The Donegal Mafia

An Irish Political Machine

Paul M. Sacks

"This is the first study which analyzes contemporary Irish politics using the techniques of contemporary political science. An interesting and thoughtful study."

—Richard Rose

"An important contribution to the general study of machine politics and a valuable corrective to certain prevailing assumptions." —Conor Cruise O'Brien $15.00

The Moral Economy of the Peasant

Rebellion and Subsistence in Southeast Asia

James C. Scott

Demonstrates that the fear of food shortages explains many otherwise puzzling technical, social, and moral arrangements in peasant society. Using lower Burma and Vietnam as examples, Scott shows how the transformations of the colonial era systematically violated the peasants' "moral economy" and created a situation of potential rebellion. $15.00

Religion and Respectability

Sunday Schools and English Working Class Culture, 1780-1850

Thomas Walter Laqueur

Freedom and Its Limitations in American Life

David M. Potter

Edited by Don E. Fehrenbacher. This edited text of the late Professor Potter's Commonwealth Fund Lectures is the last published book by one of America's most distinguished historians. In it he considers the central formative influence of freedom on the American character, reconciling the view Americans have of themselves as "the freest people on earth" with the observations of men like Tocqueville who decried American conformity as the very antithesis of freedom. Included is a complete bibliography of Potter's published works compiled by George H. Knoles. $6.50

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Contributions may be descriptive, analytical or theoretical. Any article not in itself comparative may be accepted if it lends itself to comment that will place it in comparative perspective. Correspondence with the editors prior to the submission of articles will help to enable them to obtain such comment or a companion study. Emphasis in comparative studies may be either on similarities or, if these are significant enough and call for some recasting of generalisations, on differences. All contributions and editorial correspondence should be sent to the Editors, Comparative Studies in Society and History, Department of History, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48109.

Two copies of each contribution, preferably accompanied by a stamped, addressed envelope, should be submitted. Both text and footnotes should be clearly typed with double spacing and wide margins; footnotes should appear on separate pages at the end of the article. Illustrations may be included by arrangement with the editors.
