This exam follows the same format and level as B1 Preliminary; the only difference is that the content and treatment of topics have been targeted at the interests and experiences of school-age learners.

COMPACT PRELIMINARY FOR SCHOOLS

SUE ELLIOTT AND AMANDA THOMAS

Compact Preliminary for Schools is a concise and focused course which thoroughly prepares B1-level students for all three papers of B1 Preliminary for Schools. The course focuses specifically on language revision and exam-type tasks.

‘Exam tips’, grammar and vocabulary exercises teach students to avoid common mistakes identified in the Cambridge Learner Corpus. Also, drawing on insights from English Profile, B1-level vocabulary is targeted and brought together in a wordlist based on key vocabulary from the units.

A complete practice test is included in the Student’s Book, while grammar sections and a grammar reference help students build up the accurate language structure necessary for the most challenging parts of the Reading and Writing paper. The CD-ROM provides interactive grammar, vocabulary, listening and exam practice.

NEW Create your own Unit, Term and Final tests to measure progress with the test generators available for Compact Preliminary for Schools. Contact your local Cambridge University Press representative for more information.

TRAVEL TIPS

- Before starting your trip, find out about the people and customs of the place you are visiting. This will help you to integrate more easily and will ensure you do not do anything to offend locals. The more you know about your chosen destination, the more chance you have of gaining the most from your experience.
- The best time of day to be a tourist is usually the first or last hours of the day, as there are often the key to knowing the best and cheapest places to visit and eat. In order to see all the best attractions and avoid the long queues, it pays to get there early. Our article on how to see all the best attractions and avoid the long queues is also a good idea to take photographs and meet the locals. Also, try not to get frustrated when you are unable to communicate with a native. Although you may be tempted to shout in your mother tongue in order to be understood, it is more polite and often more effective to simply use body language. You will have a much better understanding of the language when you speak it.
- It is also a good idea to memorise a few useful phrases, such as ‘please’ and ‘thank you’. You should not be afraid of making mistakes in pronunciation, as long as they are not repeated too often.
- Furthermore, talking regularly with people who make an effort to understand you is important that you do not allow them to ruin your trip.
- Do not just socialise with other travellers, but try to start conversations with locals too. Locals are often the key to knowing the best attractions and the cheapest places to visit and eat. Ask for local tips and the best places to go, and remember to tip the locals.
- To absorb all the colours, smells and sounds which surround you, try to absorb as much information as possible. This will help you to see the interesting side of things.
- Try to absorb all the colours, smells and sounds which surround you, just watching daily life happen around you. Try to absorb all the colours, smells and sounds which surround you.
