

Top Tips for Revision

Know what you need to learn

Ask your teacher for a copy of the syllabus. This outlines all the content you need to focus on when you revise.

Make a revision timetable

Set aside time every week for study. If you have examinations in more than one subject, allow time to revise for everything.

Revise effectively

Split up your time into smaller revision periods, say 30 to 40 minutes. Breaks can give you time to reflect on what you have learnt.

Make your revision active

Make notes, summary charts, mnemonics, think of picture associations for key themes so you can remember ideas later.

Test yourself regularly to check that you have understood.

Practise past or sample questions

so you are familiar with examination-style questions. It will also help you to time your answers accordingly.

Read each question carefully. Look for command words.

Always show your workings for calculations.

Develop points to show how or why they might matter.

Try to base your answers on the scenario given.

If a question asks for a decision, make one, and support it.

Make revision more effective and increase enjoyment of the subject!

Both IGCSE® and O Level Business studies and International AS and A Level Economics have been developed by subject experts and endorsed by Cambridge International Examinations for revision. These resources are packed with specifically designed guidance to help students apply their knowledge and skills.

Cambridge IGCSE® and O Level Business Studies Revision Guide supports study for syllabuses 0450 and 7115, Cambridge International AS and A Level Economics Revision Guide supports study for syllabus 9708.