ARATOS OF SICYON

By F. W. WALBANK. 8s. 6d. net

Aratos of Sicyon, in himself one of the most fascinating figures Greece produced, is peculiarly significant for the understanding of the third century B.C., for the development of the Achæan League was inseparably connected with his life and character. The present book is the first separate study of him in English.

ELECTION BY LOT AT ATHENS

By J. W. HEADLAM (Sir James Headlam-Morley, C.B.E.)

Second Edition, by D. C. MACGREGOR. 7s. 6d. net

This Essay won the Prince Consort Prize in 1890 and very quickly obtained an international reputation. 'No writer,' wrote Dr Macan, 'has better understood and expressed the spirit of the Athenian democracy and its constitution.' 'Headlam,' writes Mr Macgregor, 'created a new obligation upon historians to treat the Lot, not as an insignificant oddity, but as an institution of fundamental importance in the study of Athenian democracy.' The present edition has a few corrections. The editor has written a Preface of some 20 pages and added a number of Notes.

ANCIENT ITALY AND MODERN RELIGION

By R. S. CONWAY. Illustrated. 10s. 6d. net

'An attractive book on a fascinating theme. Professor Conway has gathered much interesting material, which he treats with freshness. He constantly stimulates thought and makes some pregnant suggestions.'—The Times Literary Supplement.

SIR JOHN EDWIN SANDYS, 1844-1922

A Memoir by N. G. L. HAMMOND. With a portrait. 7s. 6d. net

'Mr Hammond is to be congratulated on a well-planned, well-balanced, and well-executed work. . . . He brings out aspects of Sandys which not everybody in his acquaintance noted, and gives the reader a new sense of Sandys' learning and greatness.'—The Times Literary Supplement.
