JÁNOS BREUER (b. 1932) is one of Hungary’s leading musicologists and editor of Magyar Zene. His article on Kodály in England originally appeared in the Autumn 1982 issue of The New Hungarian Quarterly, and is reprinted here by kind permission of Artisjus, Budapest.

JULIAN SILVERMAN is Classical Music Reviewer for Time Out. His own works include a Sonata for 10 wind instruments and Dizzy Spells for jazz ensemble.

MARTIN ANDERSON is Assistant Editor of the Journal of Economic Affairs and a member of the BBC Central Music Advisory Committee.

DAVID MATTHEWS has recently completed a Violin Concerto; he is also composing a work for unaccompanied violin for Lorraine McAslan.

RODERICK SWANSTON lectures at the Royal College of Music and for the Extra-Mural Department of London University on Analysis (theory and practice) and on music from 1900 to the present day.

ROGER NICHOLS is well known as a presenter for BBC Radio 3 and for his books on French music, which include Debussy and Messiaen in the Oxford Studies of Composers, and Ravel for the JM Dent 'Master Musicians' series.

DOUGLAS YOUNG'S recent works include The Hunting of the Snark, released on the Cameo Classics label.
