

Heinrich Zimmer

Coming into His Own

EDITED BY MARGARET H. CASE

Heinrich Zimmer (1890-1943) is best known in the English-speaking world for the four posthumous books edited by Joseph Campbell and published in the Bollingen Series: Myths and Symbols in Indian Art and Civilization, Philosophies of India, The Art of Indian Asia, and The King and the Corpse. These works have inspired several generations of students of Indian religion and culture. All of the papers in this volume testify to Zimmer's originality and to his rightful place in that small group of great scholars who were part of the first generation to confront the end of European empires in India and the rest of Asia.

The Rāmāyaṇa of Vālmīki

An Epic of Ancient India

Volume IV: Kiṣkindhākāṇḍa

INTRODUCED, TRANSLATED, AND ANNOTATED BY ROSALIND LEFEBER

This is the fourth volume of the translation of the critical edition of The Vālmiki Rāmāyaṇa, India's most beloved and influential epic tale. This version differs significantly from the vulgate on which virtually all previous translations are based. It is accompanied by a scholarly introduction and extensive notes on the original Sanskrit text derived from a wide reading of traditional and modern texts, including several untranslated early Sanskrit commentaries.

Islamic Desk Reference

Compiled from The Encyclopaedia of Islam

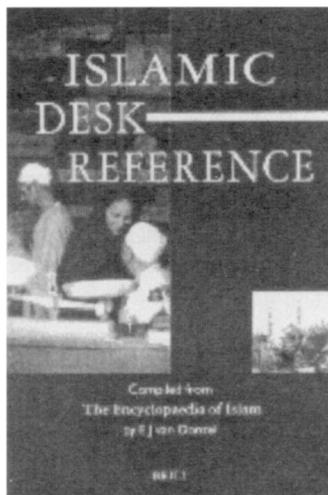

By E. VAN DONZEL

The growing demand for concise and factual information about the history and culture of Islam has now been met with the Islamic Desk Reference.

This handy one-volume work contains a condensation of the subject-matter of The Encyclopaedia of Islam, the most prestigious and valuable reference work for Islamic studies published in this century, in brief, orderly and intelligible form and provides thus a unique and valuable quick reference tool for those interested in the religion, the believers and the countries of the Islamic world.

All entries in the Islamic Desk Reference are given in English. Thus, names of Arabic origin which in the West were corrupted to another spelling, e.g. Ibn Sina to Avicenna, al-Kuhl to alcohol, are found under the latter term. The Islamic Desk Reference contains maps, diagrams and genealogical tables for easy reference and is richly illustrated.

Two Kings in Arabia

Sir Reader Bullard's Letters from Jeddah

Edited by E. C. Hodgkin • Foreword by Sir Michael Weir

Sir Reader Bullard while a member of the Levant Consular Service enjoyed two spells of duty in Arabia, first as consul in Jeddah 1923–5 and then as minister there from 1936–9. He thus saw the last years of King Hussein of the Hejaz and some of the great days of King Abdul Aziz Ibn Saud.

His mordant, frank and humorous letters home to England provide an unforgettable picture of the emerging Saudi Arabia.

'These are absorbing letters, shrewd and humane.' The Guardian, August 1993

Russian Policy in the Middle East

from Messianism to Pragmatism

Alexei Vassiliev

An informative account of Soviet foreign policy in the Middle East from the 1917 Revolution to the present describing how, because of changing domestic and external factors, the Messianic ideals of an inflexible leadership and a ponderous system were eventually overtaken by a more realistic approach to policy.

Water Resources Development in Ethiopia

Zewdie Abate

Known for its devastating droughts, Ethiopia in fact receives 110 billion m³ of fresh water each year. However only 4.5% remains within the country's borders. Dr Abate explores the current state of water development and interrelated issues and then tackles the policy reforms required to meet current and future needs.

State, Religion and Society

in Central Asia

Edited by Vitaly Naumkin

This collection of thirteen essays is by prominent Oriental Studies experts from the former Soviet Union. They compare aspects of the Central Asian republics with their neighbours in the Middle East and Asia who were not subject to Soviet rule. They discuss how the Soviet system has hindered development and how this will affect these countries' transition in the aftermath of the Soviet experience.
