THE BRITISH ACADEMY

CROMER GREEK PRIZE

WITH the view of maintaining and encouraging the study of Greek, particularly among the young, the late Lord Cromer founded a Prize, to be administered by the British Academy, for the best Essay on any subject connected with the language, history, art, literature, or philosophy of Ancient Greece.

The Prize, which is ordinarily a sum of £150, is awarded every second year, under the following Rules:—

1. Competition is open to all British subjects and subjects of Eire of either sex who will be under thirty-five years of age on 31 December preceding the award.

2. Any such person desirous of competing for the Prize to be awarded in 1961 must send in to the Secretary of the British Academy on or before 1 June 1960, the title of the subject proposed by him or her. The Academy may approve (with or without modification) or disapprove the subject; their decision will be intimated to the competitor as soon as possible.

3. Preference will be given, in approval of subjects proposed, to those which deal with aspects of the Greek genius and civilization of large and permanent significance over those which are of a minute or highly technical character.

4. Any Essay which has already received or is in competition for another prize of the same nature will be inadmissible. A candidate to whom the Prize has been awarded will not be eligible to compete for it again. But an Essay which has not received the Prize may be submitted again (with or without alteration) in a future year so long as the writer remains eligible under Rule 1.

5. Essays of which the subject has been approved must be sent in to the Secretary of the Academy on or before 31 December 1960. They must be typed or printed and should have a note attached stating the main sources of information used.

6. It is recommended that the Essays should not exceed 20,000 words, exclusive of notes. Notes should not run to an excessive length.

7. The Adjudicators shall be free to consider published work not submitted.

Communications should be addressed to 'The Secretary of the British Academy, Burlington Gardens, London, W.1'.

The Decipherment of Linear B

JOHN CHADWICK

The full story, for the general reader, of 'the Everest of Archaeology'—the solution by the late MICHAEL VENTRIS of the riddle of the Mycenaean tablets; and an account of the civilization they reveal. 2 plates; 16 figures. 18s. 6d. net

The Study of Greek Inscriptions

A. G. WOODHEAD

An introduction to epigraphy which is becoming essential in nearly every branch of classical studies. The expert will find in it a succinct account, incorporating the results of original research, and the student will gain a clear idea of standards and techniques. 22s. 6d. net

Mycenaean Pottery in Italy

Homer and the Heroic Tradition

CEDRIC HUBBELL WHITMAN

This literary study of Homer's poetry provides a new discussion which demonstrates that the Iliad is a unity, not a pastiche—and that it belongs to the end of the eighth century B.C. Mr. Whitman dates the Odyssey only a very little later. While admitting the presence of some primitive material, the author shows that in the main these poems are examples of highly sophisticated art. (Harvard University Press) 40s. net

Hellenism

THE HISTORY OF A CIVILIZATION

ARNOLD J. TOYNBEE

Here the author of A Study of History surveys the development of Hellenism from its earliest beginnings at the end of the second millennium B.C. until its decline in the seventh century A.D. This is a brilliant assessment of the contribution made by Graeco-Roman civilization in every sphere—art, religion, philosophy, political science, and technics. GREEK PAINTED POTTERY

R. M. COOK

This is a systematic and up-to-date account of Greek painted pottery from the Protogeometric to the Hellenic period and is the first English handbook of its scale since 1905, when the modern study of vase painting was just beginning. It treats the material by periods and, within each period, by schools, and references to more detailed studies and for conflicting opinions are given with comments in the bibliographies.

The Archaic period, when Greek vase painting was most varied, has special attention and the relations between the different schools are examined with unusual care and consistency. Further chapters deal with shapes, technique, inscriptions, chronology, practical advice to students, the economic and historical conclusions that can fairly be drawn from ancient pottery, and the history of the study of Greek vase painting. Some of these topics have not been investigated properly before and are important for historians. Illustrated with more than a hundred line and halftone plates. 63s.

GREEK ART AND LITERATURE

700 - 530 B.C.

THE BEGINNINGS OF MODERN CIVILISATION

T. B. L. WEBSTER

The period covered by this book stretches from Homer and geometric art to the beginnings of Greek drama and red-figure vasepainting. It embraces the Homeric hymns, Hesiod, Archilochos, Solon, Sappho, Alcaeus and the earliest Greek philosophers, as well as black-figure vase painting and the early period of Greek sculpture in stone. It begins when the classical form of city state is still very young and ends when democracy is an established method of government. An introductory chapter sketches the chief authors and artists in their historical setting. Succeeding chapters deal with the growth of individual responsibility and the idea of the individual soul: the birth of drama from pre-dramatic dances of the Mycenaean age: the development in philosophy from a mythical conception of the universe to a scientific conception recorded in scientific argument. Illustrated 21s.

Perspective in Ancient Drawing and Painting

JOHN WHITE

A survey of the principal stages in the development of spatial realism from its first appearance in the Greek vase painters to its last stage in the wall paintings of Pompeii. Particular attention is paid to certain controversial problems; and the practical problems of design, the nature of the theoretical systems and of their impact upon empirical methods, are discussed within a strictly historical framework.

THE ECONOMICS OF ANCIENT GREECE

by H. Michell

Second edition corrected with new Appendices and a supplementary Bibliography. 8vo., 427 pp., cloth £2 5s. net.

'... The book contains a very full account of the nature and extent of agriculture and animal husbandry, of mining and of industry; and Professor Michell shows with great clearness and detail the sort of life the Greek must have lived. The care with which the evidence has been gathered, and the scrupulous recording of ancient and modern sources make the book extremely valuable for reference on any aspect of the agricultural and industrial activities of the Greeks.'

The Generalship of ALEXANDER the GREAT

MAJOR-GENERAL J. F. C. FULLER

General Fuller, "the most eminent living writer on war," writes about his new study: "Although for over 2,000 years Alexander has been accepted as the greatest of the world conquerors, no single book has been devoted to the analysis of his generalship. Why this extraordinary omission? The probable answer is, that nearly all worth-while books on him are the works of classical scholars, and few classical scholars are students of war. In this book I have attempted to bridge this gap in his history." (6 plates, 21 maps and diagrams, 35s)

Captain B. H. Liddell Hart: "Of all General Fuller's brilliant books this is his masterpiece—the most impressive both in its stimulating thought and as an historical study."

The Observer: "Controversial though General Fuller's views may be, his book remains a full, knowledgeable, and well-documented study, a welcome contrast to the classicist's approach."

Listener: "General Fuller's study is a fine piece of work. A brilliant book."

LANTERN SLIDES

The Slides Collection is arranged in two main sections:

- (a) A general collection of over 10,000 slides covering a very wide range of subjects: the major Prehellenic sites, the Greek mainland and islands, Rome and Italy and the Roman Empire; sculpture, vases, painting, mosaic; coins; papyri.
- (b) About 40 sets of slides on specific subjects, compiled by specialists who have also written notes to accompany the slides. These include Prehellenic Greece, Greek Gods and Heroes, Homeric Pictures, Greek Drama, Greek Sculpture, Greek Painting, Greek Vases, Athens, Greek Cities, Greek and Roman Architecture, Transport in the Ancient World, Ancient Furniture, Roman Portraits, The Roman Imperial Army, Rome, Ostia, Roman Gaul, Roman Britain, The Roman Wall.

About 1000 colour slides (2 × 2 in.) are now available. There are sets, with notes, on the Athenian Agora excavations, Ostia, Pompeii and the Rhone Valley; and a general collection which includes many sites in Greece and Italy, Etruscan tomb paintings and Roman frescoes and mosaics.

Slides are available to all members of each Society at a charge of 10s. a set, or 4d. each for individual slides, plus postage.

A film strip of Greek Gods and Heroes may be hired at a cost of 7s. 6d. Copies may also be bought for 17s. 6d., inclusive of notes.

The annual subscription to each Society is £2. SCHOOLS ARE ELIGIBLE FOR MEMBERSHIP. For particulars apply to the Secretary of either Society at 31–34 Gordon Square, W.C.1.
