BEYOND THE SOVIET THREAT
The U.S. Army in a Post Cold War Environment
James B. Motley
“A timely and well-written book. Careful research combined with an analytical skill resulting from years of military experience and accomplished scholarship, this soldier-scholar has captured the essence of problems facing the U.S. Army in the new security environment. Motley’s book is a must for those concerned with the role and structure of the U.S. Army in the coming years.”

THE COLD WAR LEGACY
Thomas H. Naylor, Duke University
“The turn of history has delivered what Naylor was among the first to anticipate, an end to the Cold War...He was convinced that a ‘revolution’ was coming, and it came...If not a prophet, Naylor is certainly an astute observer and analyst. We will benefit by listening to him now.”
—Terry Sanford, U.S. Senate, member of the Committee on Foreign Relations

THE NEW REGIONALISM IN ASIA AND THE PACIFIC
Norman D. Palmer, University of Pennsylvania
One of the most significant aspects of the rapidly changing international scene is the remarkable growth and impact of regional cooperation. Focusing on the part of the world where regional cooperation and regional organizations are most dramatically on the rise, this book traces the development of regionalism in the major sub-regions of the Pacific.

THE INTERNATIONALIZATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS
David P. Forsythe, University of Nebraska
This fascinating exploration of the campaign on behalf of human rights since 1945 shows that this issue, once considered the province of states, has now become an integral part of international relations. Forsythe provocatively probes such hotly-debated questions as what constitutes a human right, whether international action for human rights is a form of cultural imperialism, and whether there can be international standards for human rights but variation among states in implementing them.

The Military Revolution and Political Change

Origins of Democracy and Autocracy in Early Modern Europe

Brian M. Downing

To examine the origins of democracy and dictatorship, Brian Downing focuses on the importance of medieval political configurations and of military modernization in the early modern period. Downing maintains that in late medieval times an array of constitutional arrangements distinguished Western Europe from other parts of the world and predisposed it toward liberal democracy. He then looks at how medieval constitutionalism was affected by the "military revolution" of the early modern era—the shift from small, decentralized feudal levies to large standing armies.

"The author's emphasis on the role of the instruments of violence and repression in inhibiting liberal and democratic trends is new to scholarship and quite convincing. Here is comparative history at its best."—Barrington Moore, Jr.

The Ecologist

The Leading International 'Green' Journal

Edward Goldsmith, Nicholas Hildyard and Peter Bunyard, Editors

"The doyenne of green magazines"
- Jonathon Porritt. Former Director, Friends of The Earth

Founded in 1969, The Ecologist was one of the first periodicals to recognize the concept of global ecology and to take a stance on the critical environmental issues of the day.

From its now famous Blueprint for Survival (1972), its 1985 report on the World Bank's Global Financing of Impoverishment and Famine, to a special issue on The Amazon (1989), The Ecologist has challenged conventional wisdom and led the way in reshaping our thinking.
