WOODROW WILSON House Library Project

Pendleton Herring, the President of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, recently published an article in Historic Preservation outlining plans for the National Trust for Historic Preservation to undertake a project to bring together at the Woodrow Wilson House Library in Washington, D.C. the books most significant in the intellectual life of the former President, According to Herring, "Wilson's own publications on government, politics and jurisprudence are an essential part of the story, as are his speeches and essays. His papers, now being edited by Arthur S. Link and his associates at Princeton University, are being published by the Princeton University Press. Volume 23 is in production now. Eventually more than 40 volumes will be available. This is no mountain of bureaucratic documentation but an intensely personal collection. Thus, to a unique degree, the inspiration and stimuli that entered into the thoughts of this sensitive and idealistic leader can be studied.

The Washington house in which Wilson spent his last three years after leaving the White House in 1921 was overflowing with books. Mrs. Wilson, on her husband's death, gave them to the Library of Congress with the stipulation that the collection be kept intact. These volumes are now available for research. Here are many of the books that Wilson treasured through a lifetime as well as many that simply accumulated over the years.

The entire book list has many hundreds of titles. The indices to the first 12 volumes of the Papers of Woodrow Wilson carry more than 2700 references but the main focus is on British essayists, novelists and poets of the 19th century and, more broadly, on political theorists from classic times to Wilson's own day. His shelves displayed his taste as a man of letters and his interest as a student of politics, of jurisprudence and of political philosophy.

The present objective is to gather for the library of the S Street residence not only a complete collection of Wilson's own writings but also those books that best represent his personal taste or that may have influenced his political philosophy. Political scientists who possess volumes in their field published prior to 1924 are the most likely source for aiding the National Trust in reconstituting the Wilson collection.

The following list is suggestive of the many authors who might be cited: Aristotle, John Austin, Francis Bacon, Walter Bagehot, William Blackstone, Johann Kaspar Bluntschli, John Bright, James Bryce, Edmund Burke, Richard Cobden, Thomas Cooley, Albert V. Dicey, Richard Ely, Otto Friedrich von Gierke, Rudolf von Gneist, Frank J. Goodnow, John Richard Green, George Jellenik, John Locke, Thomas Babington Macaulay, Sir Henry Maine, Adolf Merkel, John Morley, John L. Motley, Montesquieu, Plato, Sir Frederick Pollock, Herbert Spencer, Frederick Jackson Turner, Francis A.

Among authors in belles lettres are Matthew Arnold, Jane Austen, Robert Browning, Charles Dickens, John Keats, Charles Lamb, Sir Walter Scott, Alfred Lord Tennyson, William Wordsworth.

Questions concerning titles or authors may be addressed to Dr. Pendleton Herring, Castle Howard, Princeton, New Jersey 08540; offers to donate books may be sent to Shirley Markley, Administrator, Woodrow Wilson House, 2340 S Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20008.

ASIAN Political Scientists Group

A new executive committee of the Asian Political Scientists Group was elected at the 1975 meeting of the American Political Science Association in San Francisco with Chun-tu Hsueh as the chairman. Other committee members are: M. Lal Goel, Norman Han, Young Hoon Kang, and Uasumasa Kuroda.

The committee welcomes any suggestions to promote the professional and ethnic interests of Asian political scientists in this country, and volunteers who are interested in the work. Please write to Professor Hsueh, Department of Politics, University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland 20742.

Preview of the United States SUPREME COURT Cases

Preview of the United States Supreme Court Cases is a unique educational tool containing a brief, though scholarly, analysis of every case argued before the Supreme Court.

Prepared jointly by the Association of American Law Schools and the American Law Institute-American Bar Association Committee on Continuing Professional Education, Preview contains concise, easily read memoranda written by law teachers expert in the field. Every case argued before the Court is covered. Each memorandum gives the facts and the background, and arguments of the parties, and the possible conclusions of the Court. The reader obtains a synopsis of the record and the briefs, as well as an introduction prepared by a specialist, in language that even the college student can understand.

During the 1975-76 term, about 170 memoranda will be published in approximately 52 issues of Preview.

Individual subscriptions to Preview are $20 per term. In bulk orders for an entire class, the cost is reduced by half to $10. In the case of bulk orders, payment must be made in full when the order is placed, and a list of students and addresses must be attached. The issues of Preview will be mailed directly to each student.

Preview was launched in 1964 in order to help the news media comprehend the decisions of the Supreme Court. Beginning with the 1973 term of the Supreme Court, the memoranda became available to teachers, students, members of the bar, and other interested persons. Professor Sherman L. Cohn of the Georgetown University Law Center is the Administrator; Meyer Kramer, Assistant Director for Publications, ALI-ABA Committee on Continuing Professional Education, is Editor.

Additional information on Preview may be obtained from Meyer Kramer, Editor, ALI-ABA Committee on Continuing Professional Education, 4025 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19104.

STATE and LOCAL Government Review

State and Local Government Review is a triannual publication of the Institute of Government, University of Georgia, devoted to practitioners and academics interested in applied research dealing with the practical problems of state and local government. As a multi-disciplinary journal oriented toward practitioners, the Review welcomes all articles concerning applied research, university-based public service programs and training, policy making and implementation, and programs in state and local government. The Review also publishes notes on new subjects, commentaries, and replications. Our preference is for manuscripts which would appeal to practitioners and academics. Short to medium-length article manuscripts (11-20 typewritten, double-spaced pages) and notes (10 pages or less) are desired, but longer manuscripts will be considered. For further information write Delmer D. Dunn, Director, Institute of Government, The University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia 30602.

ITALIAN Politics Group

A Conference Group on Italian Politics has been established. Designed to enhance the study of Italian politics, the group is both international and interdisciplinary.

The officers and members of the Executive Council follow:

President: Norman Kogan, Professor of Political Science, University of Connecticut.

Vice President: Samuel H. Barnes, Professor of Political Science, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Executive Secretary/Treasurer: Raphael Zariski, Professor of Political Science, University of Nebraska, Lincoln.

Members of the Executive Council: Giuseppe DiPalma, Professor of Political Science, University of California, Berkeley; Joseph LaPalombara, Professor of Political Science, Yale; Joseph Lopreato, Professor of Sociology, University of Texas, Austin; Alberto Spreafico, Professor of Political Science, University of Catania; Sidney Tarrow, Associate Professor of Political Science, Cornell University.

For further information write to the Executive Secretary-Treasurer, Raphael Zariski, Department of Political Science, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska 68508.

GOVERNORS Handbook

The Critical Hundred Days: A Handbook for the New Governor has been published by the National Governors' Conference. The volume was originally prepared as a handbook for newly elected Governors but also seeks to further the role of the States in our federal system. It covers such topics as: Approaching the Job, A Governor's Day, The Immediate Staff, Personnel and Appointments, Approaches to Management, The First Budget and Financial Plan, The Legislative Program, Intergovernmental Relations, Ethics and Standards, and Media and the Public. Copies of the manual are available at $10.00 a copy from the National Governors' Conference, 1150 17th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

DARWIN Collection

A comprehensive edition of the letters of Charles Darwin is being planned with the sponsorship of the American Council of Learned Societies and with support from the National Endowment for the Humanities and the National Science Foundation.

The edition will be arranged in chronological order with full texts and annotations and will include letters to Darwin as well as those from him.

Frederick Burkhardt, President Emeritus of the American Council of Learned Societies, and Sydney Smith, Fellow and Tutor of St. Catharine's College and University Lecturer in Zoology, University of Cambridge, are Co-Editors of the Collected Letters.

Although extensive collections of Darwin's correspondence are available at the American Philosophical Society, in the Cambridge University Library, and in other research libraries and archives, the edition can be made definitive only through the generous cooperation of the possessors of smaller lots of Darwin's widely scattered correspondence. It is hoped that librarians, collectors, scholars, antiquarian booksellers, and others with knowledge of Darwiniana will feel disposed to contribute their help to this project, which will make available for the first time materials that will be basic to future scholarship on Darwin and the history of 19th century science.

Please direct all correspondence to Dr. Frederick Burkhardt, R.F.D. 1, Bennington, Vermont 05201 U.S.A. or to Dr. Sydney Smith, St. Catharine's College, Cambridge CB2 1RL, England.

Contemporary FRENCH Civilization Journal

Contemporary French Civilization, a new interdisciplinary journal devoted to the study of French speaking cultures throughout the world, is designed to address the needs of faculty (secondary and advanced levels) in French, history, political science, sociology and other related disciplines. The Editorial Board includes, among others, Pierre Aubery, SUNY, Buffalo; Mustapha Benouis, University of Hawaii; Edward Gargan, University of Wisconsin; Genelle Morain, University of Georgia; D. Bruce Marshall, University of South Carolina; Laurence Wylie, Harvard University.

Articles, annotated bibliographies, interviews, notes and reviews are solicited from persons wishing to share their knowledge and insights with a broad, diversified audience. Contributors are requested to forward the original plus two copies of the manuscript. All material-in French or in English-must be double-spaced with footnotes appearing at the end. Initially, the journal will be published biannually, with the first issue (200-250 pp.) appearing in the fall of 1976. Any special issues will be sent to subscribers at no additional cost. Editorial correspondence: B. J. Quinn, General Editor, Department of Modern Languages, Montana State University, Bozeman, Montana 59715. Books reviews: Pierre Aubery, Review Editor, Department of French Studies, SUNY, Buffalo, Buffalo, New York 14261. Subscriptions (one year: individuals, $8.00; institutions, $10.00. Two years: individuals, $14.00; institutions, $18.00. Overseas add $1.00 per year): Phillip Crant, Managing Editor, Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, University of South Carolina, Columbia, South Carolina 29208.

PI ALPHA ALPHA Established

A National Honorary Society for Public Affairs and Administration, Pi Alpha Alpha, has been established by the membership of the National Association of Schools of Public Affairs and Administration. Its purposes and membership, as stated in its constitution, "shall be to encourage and reward scholarship and accomplishment among students and practitioners of public affairs and administration, to promote the advancement of education and scholarship in the art and science of public affairs and administration, and to foster integrity and creative performance in the conduct of governmental and related public service operations. Membership shall be limited to those of the academic achievement and/or outstanding public service who are or have been enrolled or teach in public affairs or public administration programs in institutions which are members of the National Association of Schools of Public Affairs and Administration."

NASPAA member institutions interested in establishing a local chapter of the Society should contact Samuel Thomas, Chairperson, Interim Coordinating Committee, National Honorary Society, c/o NASPAA, Suite 300, 1225 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Society for SOCIAL STUDIES of Science

A Society for Social Studies of Science was formed on August 23, 1975 at a meeting in San Francisco attended by about 50 social scientists and historians. Robert K. Merton was elected President, Robert McGinnis Secretary-Treasurer, and a five-person Council consisting of Bernard Barber, Nicholas Mullins, Nelson W. Polsby, Derek de Solla Price, and Arnold Thackray. The purpose of the Society is to promote research, learning and understanding in the systematic social analysis of science and science policy. A newsletter and an annual meeting are planned. Political scientists having an interest in joining the Society are invited to communicate with the Secretary-Treasurer, Professor Robert McGinnis, Department of Sociology, Cornell University, 323 Uris Hall, Ithaca, New York 14853. Annual dues are $10.00.

American BEHAVIORAL Scientist Special Issue

The American Behavioral Scientist is preparing to publish an issue devoted to the potentials for and impediments to revolution in advanced industrial society (i.e., the United States, Canada, Japan, and Western Europe) and welcomes short to medium length manuscripts (10-25 pages) dealing with any aspect of this topic, including current empirical and normative theories of revolution; recent (post-1965) revolutionary activities; potential revolutionary groups and movements; the social, political, and technological blockages to revolution; the coup d'etat; violence; riots and revolution; psychological causes of revolution and violence; how technological advances facilitate and frustrate revolutionary activity; revolutions on the periphery (e.g., southern Italy, Portugal) and their implications; case studies with generalizable conclusions. Manuscripts should be submitted, in duplicate and with return postage, by August 1, 1976, to Peter G. Stillman, Department of Political Science (Box 463), Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, New York 12601.

COMMUNICATION Quarterly

Communication Quarterly, the journal of the Eastern Communication Association, is seeking manuscripts on human communication. Its aim is to assist in the publication of the best new research and thought. It will publish scholarly articles, interviews, translations, and book reviews on human communication: critical, historical, empirical, pedagogical, and theoretical.

All manuscripts will be referred to one or more associate editors. Authors are asked to submit an original and at least one copy, following the style recommended in The MLA Style Sheet, Second Edition. There should be a cover page giving the title of the article, the author's name, address, and academic or professional affiliation. The next page should contain the title and an abstract of the article (100-250 words). The first page of the text should begin with the title, but should not identify the author. Footnotes should appear on separate sheets following the last page of text. Communication Quarterly requests that authors include a selfaddressed envelope and sufficient postage for return of the manuscript.

For further information write to Thomas W. Benson, Editor, Department of Speech Communication, 227 Sparks Building, Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pennsylvania 16802.

SYSTEMS PLANNING and Development

Pennsylvania State University announces a new M.S. and Ph.D. program in Community Systems Planning and Development, with emphases in criminal justice, social welfare, and health planning and administration. The program prepares students for research as well as administrative careers in policy planning, implementation and evaluation in public and private settings. An interdisciplinary faculty in law, administration of justice, medicine, hospital administration, social welfare and the social sciences offers flexible program options. For 1976-77, the M.S. option is restricted to health planning and administration. For further information and applications, write Admissions, CSPD Program, College of Human Development, University Park, Pennsylvania 16802. Applications deadline: March 1, 1976.

Review Interamericana CUBA Issue

The Revista/Review Interamericana is planning a special issue devoted to Cuba in the 20th Century co-edited by professors Lynn Darrell Bender and Harry Swan. Unsolicited manuscripts of article length are welcome. They may be written in English or Spanish. Write to the guest editors at the Department of History, Political Science, and Geography, Inter American University, San German, Puerto Rico 00753.

GERMAN Summer School of the Atlantic

From June 27-August 13, 1976, the University of New Hampshire and the Goethe Institute, Munich and Boston, will again conduct the "German Summer School of the Atlantic," with course offerings at both undergraduate and graduate (M.A.) levels. In addition to intensive language study opportunities, the 1976 program will emphasize German Studies, with a number of offerings on recent and contemporary German history and politics. There will also be three-week workshops for teachers during the session.

Contact George K. Romoser, Professor of Political Science, University of New Hampshire, Social Science Center, Durham, New Hampshire 03824 for further information.

Institute in EVALUATION Research

The Annual Summer Institute in Evaluation Research, an intensive training program, for advanced graduate students in social science and practicing evaluation researchers, will be held June 21 through July 30, 1976 at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. Topics covered include the major technical and substantive issues in evaluation research: design, interpretation, appraisal and contexts. Tuition grants and stipends are available. Two prerequisites include: two or more years of graduate study towards the Ph.D. in the social sciences, three or more years of experience (or Ph.D.) as evaluation researcher or administrator employed with a government agency or private research firm, or recent Ph.D. in relevant fields seeking employment in evaluation research (eligible for post-doctoral fellowship). Formal training or extensive experience in multivariate statistical analysis is required. Address inquiries to Peter H. Rossi, Director, Social and Demographic Research Institute, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts 01002. Deadline for application: April 1.

SENATE Research

The recently established U.S. Senate Historical Office is interested in learning of research in progress, or recently completed, related to the Senate and its past and current members. The office was created to serve as a clearinghouse for scholars and the general public. It will seek to promote understanding of the Senate's historic role through a program of publications and research services. All inquiries and information should be directed to Richard A. Baker, Historical Office, Office of the Secretary, U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510.

PEACE Research Abstracts

Peace Research Abstracts Journal, now in its 12th volume of publication, contains abstracts (summaries) of articles, books, reports, and conference papers on subjects related to war/peace issues and international affairs. Every month, 625 such abstracts are published, classified according to subject, under headings ranging from "nuclear weapons" through "United Nations" to "attitude surveys."

Subscribers around the world include some of the leading universities, several external affairs departments and parliamentary libraries, and institutes of international relations, peace research, and strategic studies. The usefulness of PRA derives partly from the fact that its coverage is cross-disciplinary, so that it facilitates literature searches for scholars and students and practicing politicians.

The Journal is an official publication of the International Peace Research Association and has had support from UNESCO. It is published by the Canadian Peace Research Institute.

The abstracting work is done by about 50 volunteer abstractors around the world.

If you are interested in abstracting, please write to Dr. Hanna Newcombe, Co-editor, Peace Research Abstracts, 25 Dundana Avenue, Dundas, Ontario, Canada.

INTERN Directory

The Directory of Washington Internships, a comprehensive guide to Washington internship programs and placements, and The Directory of Public Service Internships: Opportunities for the Graduate, Post Graduate, and Mid-Career Professional are now available from the National Center for Public Service Internship Programs, 1735 Eye Street, Suite 601 B, Washington, D.C. 20006. The cost of each publication is $6.00. Additional information about the activities of the National Center, their newsletter "Public Service Internship News," and membership information can be obtained by writing the above address.

Cooperative PUBLISHING Agreement

Cooperative Imprint of Miami University and the Ohio State University Press. Miami University has entered into a cooperative publishing arrangement with the Ohio State University Press, whereby The Ohio State University Press will publish two books a year under an imprint indicating publication by "The Ohio State University Press for Miami University." The cooperative arrangement will provide an additional publication outlet for scholars both inside and outside Miami University submitting manuscripts of high quality. An Editorial Board comprised of Miami University faculty will have the full responsibility for the evaluation and selection of manuscripts for publication.

The Editorial Board has established the following criteria: scholarly works produced by a single author or by joint authors preferred over edited collections of papers given at a conference or gathered for another purpose; works of an original scholarly nature of significant reinterpretations of existing scholarship; and creative contributions to literature.

For further information, address inquiries to David S. McLellan, 126 Harrison Hall, Miami University, Oxford, Ohio 45056.

JOURNAL of Political Education

The International Journal of Political Education has recently been established. It is designed to contribute to an increase in exchange of information that can be useful to teachers, curriculum developers, those studying social and political education, and people involved in adult education, religions and civic organization and mass media. The Board of Editors is composed of:

Lee F. Anderson, Professor of Political Science and Education, Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, U.S.A.

Judith V. Torney, Associate Professor of Psychology, University of Illinois at Chicago Circle, Chicago, Illinois, U.S.A.

Annette Kuhn, Professor of Political Education, Pädagogische Hochschule Bonn, Germany.

Dieter Schmidt-Sinns, Regierungsdirektor, Bundeszentrale für politische Bildung, Bonn, Germany.

Derek Heater, Head of History Department, Brighton College of Education, Brighton, England.

Ake Talls, Teacher of Political Education, Stockholm, Sweden.

Willem Langeveld, Associate Professor of Political Education, University of Amsterdam (secretary), The Netherlands.

Subscriptions for the journal are $20 annually plus postage. For further information write to H. D. Tjeenk Willink bv., c/o The Marketing Department, P.O. Box 58, Groningen, The Netherlands.

NASPAA Publications

Several publications of the National Association of School of Public Affairs and Administration (NASPAA) are being offered at a substantial discount to APSA members who prepay and order directly, using the form below.

The publications include: (1) Guidelines and Standards for Professional Masters Degree Programs in Public Affairs/Public Administration; (2) Guide for the Self-Evaluation of Professional Masters Degree Programs in Public Affairs/Public Administration; and (3) Graduate School Programs in Public Affairs and Public Administration, 1974 Survey Report of NASPAA Member Institutions. In addition to these publications, a reprint from the March/April 1975 issue of the Public Administration Review entitled "Graduate Education in Public Affairs/Public Administration" will be included with the order. The reprint is an in-depth analysis of the data included in the 1974 survey report.

The three publications included in this special offer sell for a total of $9.00, but are being offered for a limited time to APSA members at a 50 percent discount, or $4.50 (includes the reprint). This offer is available while supplies last or until March 1. Publications will be sent via book rate mail. Orders will be filled on the same day as received if accompanied by a self-addressed mail label.
