Contents

The Past Mirror: Notes, Surveys, Debates

- Michael Bordo and Harold James
  - The trade-offs between macroeconomics, political economy and international relations 247

Articles

- Christopher Coyle, Aldo Musacchio and John D. Turner
  - Law and finance in Britain c.1900 267
- German Forero-Laverde
  - Stock market co-movement, domestic economic policy and the macroeconomic trilemma: the case of the UK (1922–2016) 295
- Abe de Jong, Philip Fliers and Henry van Beusichem
  - Catering and dividend policy: evidence from the Netherlands over the twentieth century 321
- Elise M. Dermineur
  - Peer-to-peer lending in pre-industrial France 359
- Ronald Michener
  - A re-examination of the empirical evidence concerning colonial Virginia’s paper money, 1755–1774: a comment on Grubb 389
- Farley Grubb
  - Colonial Virginia’s paper money, 1755–1774: a reply to Michener 401
INSTRUCTIONS FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Editorial policy
Financial History Review, published by Cambridge University Press on behalf of the European Association for Banking and Financial History, is a quarterly refereed journal that aims to publish original, high-quality research articles in the field of banking and financial history. It is committed to high international scholarly standards and invites scholars doing research on banking, financial, and monetary history from different perspectives, including theoretically inspired approaches, to contribute their research findings within this growing historical specialism. Articles in the journal address banking, financial, and monetary history from different perspectives, including theoretically inspired approaches, to contribute their research findings within this growing historical specialism.

Stylistic conventions
Contributors should follow exactly the stylistic conventions, set out below, when writing the final version of their articles. Copy-editing is tedious and is not desired for other use of material from the journal.

Footnotes.
Footnotes should follow accepted national styles, always giving an extended version for the first document cited from a source, e.g., Levine (1997). Subsequent references in the same source are deemed equivalent to an earlier reference.

References.
References to archival sources must include the name and location of the collection, and the file where the document can be found. In general, citations should follow the punctuation, capitalisation and spelling of the original source. Within the body of the text of an article, a quotation should be elided to the smallest unit, e.g., a single word or phrase.

Quotations.
Authors will receive a PDF offprint of their published article.

Submissions
Manuscripts will be submitted through the ScholarOne Manuscripts site: https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/fhi

Copyright
© European Association for Banking and Financial History e.V.

Further information
For further information, please contact the EABFH Secretariat:
Barbara Witzemann
European University Institute, Badia Fiesolana, Via di Vespignano, 60, 00144 Rome, Italy
Email: b.witzemann@eui.eu
Tel: +39 06 6859.177
Fax: +39 06 6859.182
Contents

The Past Mirror: Notes, Surveys, Debates

Michael Bordo and Harold James
The trade-offs between macroeconomics, political economy and international relations 247

Articles

Christopher Coyle, Aldo Musacchio and John D. Turner
Law and finance in Britain c.1900 267

German Forero-Laverde
Stock market co-movement, domestic economic policy and the macroeconomic trilemma: the case of the UK (1922–2016) 295

Abe de Jong, Philip Fliers and Henry van Beusichem
Catering and dividend policy: evidence from the Netherlands over the twentieth century 321

Elise M. Dermineur
Peer-to-peer lending in pre-industrial France 359

Ronald Michener
A re-examination of the empirical evidence concerning colonial Virginia’s paper money, 1755–1774: a comment on Grubb 389

Farley Grubb
Colonial Virginia’s paper money, 1755–1774: a reply to Michener 401