Essays originating from a conference organized under the auspices of the Program of Museum Studies of New York University, in cooperation with the Institute for Afro-American Affairs and the Program in Women's History of New York University, and held at New York University, the Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture of the New York Public Library, and the New York Academy of Sciences, Spring 1991

Flora Edouwaye S. Kaplan, New York University, Editor

EIGHTEEN CASE STUDIES OF WOMEN OF POWER in Africa focus on the political and ritual roles of royal and elite women gathered together by tradition, choice, and circumstance, who achieve and exercise power and acquire and exert influence felt in the public and private arenas of their societies. A dozen sub-Saharan ethnic groups are represented, mostly from West Africa and South Africa. The volume is interdisciplinary, with contributors drawn from the fields of anthropology, art history, history, political science, comparative literature, African and African-American studies, women's studies, and religion.

ASA Annual Meeting Papers Collection 1993-1996 CD-ROM

To mark the 40th anniversary of the African Studies Association we are trying an exciting experiment. This year instead of releasing the Annual Meeting Papers Collection on photocopy, microfilm, and microfiche we are putting it on CD-ROM. Not only are we putting the 1996 papers on the CD-ROM, but we are packaging them together with the papers of the 1993, 1994, and 1995 Annual Meetings. Altogether that is 514 papers, close to 11,500 pages of scanning in all. In the past each annual collection was priced at $375 per set, hardly something an individual could afford.

This collection is so affordable that we will no longer make these papers available as individual photocopies. Now every African Studies Program, regardless of its size, can make this entire collection available to faculty and students for only $99.00. That is almost a 75% savings over the price of yesterday's technology.

The Annual Meeting Papers Collection was started in 1971 when the ASA Archives-Libraries Committee took on the daunting task of assembling as many of the papers as they could find. What resulted was a collection of about one thousand papers from the 1960, 1965-1974 meetings. Since that time each year the Association has asked members to contribute papers to the collection. The annual collection has grown into one of the best sources of current thinking in African Studies available today. It is also a valuable collection from a historical point of view since it provides an accurate "snap shot" of the thinking of many leading Africanists in a given year.

The 1993-1996 Annual Meeting Papers Collection CD-ROM puts four years of Africanist Scholarship at your fingertips. The CD-ROM is cross-platform and can be opened either with Macintosh or Microsoft operating systems, all the software needed is included on the disk.

We think that you will agree that the collection is a remarkable set of papers and an absolute must for your personal library, not to mention a necessity for your institution's library.

The Collection is attractively priced and a 20% discount is available to ASA members. Members who have contributed to the 1934-1996 Collection will receive a 50% discount off the regular individual price of $65.

African Studies Quarterly

The Electronic Journal of the Center for African Studies at the University of Florida

In Volume 1, Issue 3 (November 1, 1997):

Crisis and Transition in Central Africa

ASQ's next issue brings together top scholars from around the world to explore the monumental changes in Central Africa

African Studies Quarterly is an interdisciplinary, fully-refereed, publication. While there are other publishing outlets which focus on scholarly writings concerning Africa, what distinguishes ASQ is its distribution method and its content. It is an electronic journal. First, it is accessible to a growing number of scholars and institutions around the world with World Wide Web access who cannot afford the expensive subscription rates of conventional journals. Second, the electronic format allows for a very rapid turnaround. ASQ intends only a three month lag from submission, to review, to publication. This means that the journal can carry scholarly writing of a time-sensitive nature.

...New Features in ASQ:

Email Distribution

In addition to world wide web access, articles and tables of contents will be available via email in the 4th quarter of 1997.

At Issue

A new section devoted to brief commentaries, opinions and analyses of contemporary issues. Contributions are welcome.

New Scholarly Approaches

A forum for scholars to make full use of the audio, video and still image potential of the web as a new multimedia method of presenting scholarship. Submissions are encouraged.

MUSICAL EXPERIENCE IN TUMBUKA HEALING

Steven M. Friedson

“This is everything that a contemporary ethnography should be: well written, compelling, modestly experiential. Friedson brings experience and analysis into a highly productive dynamic tension, elegantly demonstrating the power and sophistication of a radically empirical phenomenological approach to anthropology.”

The Arts of Africa An Annotated Bibliography

compiled by Janet Stanley

Smithsonian Institution Libraries
National Museum of African Art Branch

Praised by reviewers as "a splendid resource," and "a model for future bibliographies in the field of African art," The Arts of Africa is an outstanding resource on African visual arts, architecture and material culture. Entries indexed by subject and author are selected for substance, significance and originality. The thoughtful annotations are invaluable for researchers or collection purchasers.

Along with obvious topics of sculpture, painting, graphics, architecture, dress and body arts, textiles and rock art, The Arts of Africa includes publications on African material culture, which go beyond "art" narrowly defined. Thus, topics include ironworking technology, archaeological pottery, economics of craft production, musical instruments, performance and graphic systems. Similarly, publications on the image of the Black in art, representations of the "other," and the influence of African art on non-African art are included.

COAST)

RALPH A. AUSTEN

The epic of Jeki la Njambè has been performed among the Duala and related peoples of the Cameroon coast since at least the mid-nineteenth century and recorded in several indigenous, French and German texts in more recent times. The Elusive Epic contains English translations in whole or part of ten different versions of Jeki ranging from virtuoso performances with back-up troupes through family storytellers to Negritude poetry and contemporary pop music. The first half of the book discusses the epic as both a cultural and historical artifact although neither the contents nor local understandings of the epic link Jeki la Njambè to the very well known regional history of Atlantic commerce and Duala hegemony.
