History
Books and Journals from Cambridge University Press

History is the largest single subject area for the Press. It is a programme with both depth and breadth, ranging in subject matter from late antiquity to the present day, international in scope and embracing new approaches.

Our publishing includes major reference series, textbooks and monographs, as well as a collection of distinguished journals affiliated to the world’s leading scholarly societies.

Together, they reflect the diversity of the discipline and offer an unmatched resource for today’s historians.

“Stephen G. Rabe’s exhaustively researched work breaks the silence surrounding the heroic roles played by French men and women to assure the success of the American landings. Engagingly written, the story emphasizes the courage of both soldier and civilian in the face of SS murder and atrocity. A must-read for anyone who wishes to explore another view of the D-Day landings. Highly recommended.”

MARY LOUISE ROBERTS, author of D-Day Through French Eyes: Memoirs of Normandy 1944

Untied Kingdom

A GLOBAL HISTORY OF THE END OF BRITAIN

A panoramic history uncovering the demise of Britishness as a global civic idea since the Second World War.

“Vivid in detail and sweeping in its scope, this is essential reading for anyone who wants to understand the long, slow waning of Britishness.”
Fintan O’Toole, author of Heroic Failure: Brexit and the Politics of Pain

“Eloquent, erudite, and sophisticated [...] Untied Kingdom is essential reading for those interested in imperial history and in the past, present and future of the union.”
Duncan Bell, author of The Idea of Greater Britain

“A monumental achievement [...] Untied Kingdom counts as essential post-Brexit reading.”
Elizabeth Buettner, author of Europe after Empire: Decolonization, Society, and Culture

“This is an intellectual landmark in both imperial and British history.”
John Darwin, author of Unlocking the World: Port Cities and Globalization in the Age of Steam, 1830-1930

An important book that recasts debates about European and global disorder after the First World War in a longer history of Atlantic world-order making since 1860. Advancing the case that the Paris Peace Conference produced an international ‘system’ that sought to address the question of German power and its place in the world, this new history also offers insights for contemporary debates on the question of China and the prospects for regional and global order in the present disorderly context of the 21st Century.

A fundamental reassessment of German politics and strategy during the First World War and why it was that Germany lost.

“Thought-provoking and sure to spark controversy – this is one of the most important and exciting new interpretations of the First World War!”

ALEXANDER WATSON, author of Ring of Steel: Germany and Austria–Hungary at War, 1914–1918

“Trading Power is the single best and most complete analysis of West Germany’s rise to dominance in cold war Europe. Based on extraordinarily in-depth research, Gray skillfully and clearly tells the story of the diplomatic, political, and economic development of German power within the European community, the Atlantic alliance, and the international system. This history is essential to understanding Germany’s significance in shaping the liberal world order and its changing position in today’s Europe. It is a must-read for policymakers and students alike. A real triumph!”

Thomas A. Schwartz, author of Henry Kissinger and American Power: A Political Biography
INSTRUCTIONS FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Contemporary European History covers the history of Eastern and Western Europe, including the United Kingdom, from 1918 to the present. By combining a wide geographical compass with a relatively short time span, the journal achieves both range and depth. It is open to all forms of historical enquiry – including cultural, economic, international, political and social approaches – and welcomes comparative and transnational analysis.

Submissions
Authors wishing to submit articles for publication should do so through the journal’s online submissions system at http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/conteurohistory.

Articles should normally be about 8,000 words long, not including footnotes. Review articles should not exceed 6,000 words, including footnotes. The journal also considers special issue proposals. Please contact the editors for details.

The journal is published in English, and contributions are normally submitted in that language; however, we will also consider articles submitted in other major European languages. If accepted for publication, these will be translated. All articles, including those commissioned, will be refereed.

Submission of an article will be taken to imply that it is unpublished and is not being considered for publication elsewhere. On acceptance of an article, the author will be asked to assign copyright (on certain conditions) to Cambridge University Press. An article cannot be published unless a signed copyright form is returned promptly.

Contributors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any material in which they do not hold copyright and for ensuring that the appropriate acknowledgements are included in their text. Contributors must keep closely to the journal’s stylistic conventions. The editors will return any contribution which does not follow the conventions for correction.

Before submitting, prospective authors should refer to the full set of Instruction for Contributors by following the link at https://www.cambridge.org/ceh
