ASSESSING COMPETENCE TO CONSENT TO TREATMENT

A Guide for Physicians and Other Health Professionals

Thomas Grisso and Paul S. Appelbaum

"Every few decades comes a book so influential that the history of the entire field is divided into 'before' and 'after'. Assessing Competence to Consent to Treatment is such a book: a clinical, legal, and scientific accomplishment so complete that it will be the odd reader who does not turn the final page and think, 'this is what scholarship should be.' A staggering accomplishment!"—John Monahan, Professor of Law, University of Virginia

1998 224 pp.; 2 figs. 510372-6 $29.95

THE HUMAN USE OF ANIMALS

Case Studies in Ethical Choice

F. Barbara Orlans, Tom Beauchamp, Rebecca Dresser, David Morton, and John Gluck

Sixteen original essays cover controversies associated with the human use of animals in biomedical, behavioral, and wildlife research, cosmetic safety testing, education, the food industry, commerce, and animal use as pets and in religious practices. The authors include well-known experts in physiology, public policy, ethics, law, and veterinary science. 1998 352 pp.; 18 halftones

511908-8 paper $26.50/ 511907-X cloth $55.00

THE ETHICS OF BIOMEDICAL RESEARCH

An International Perspective

Baruch A. Brody

The first book to both comprehensively analyze the ethical issues of scientific research, and evaluate the regulatory policies aimed at their resolution. The author covers research on animals and human subjects in epidemiology, genetics, reproductive medicine; clinical trials; drug approval; and research on women and minorities. He also reviews in detail the official policies of countries from North America, Europe, and the Pacific Rim.

April 1998 448 pp. 509007-1 $49.95

THE BIRTH OF BIOETHICS

Albert R. Jonsen

"Enormous clarity and insight, and the record [Jonsen] presents of the development in recent decades is not only well worth reading, but immensely interesting as well."—Daniel Callahan, The Hastings Center. Covering the period 1947-1987, this book examines the origin and evolution of the debates over human experimentation, genetic engineering, organ transplantation, termination of treatment, and new reproductive technologies.

May 1998 496 pp. 510325-4 $49.95

BIOETHICS

A Return to Fundamentals

Bernard Gert, Charles M. Culver, and K. Danner Clouser

Rather than concentrating narrowly on bioethics, the authors approach clinical medicine from the viewpoint of moral philosophy as a whole. Their detailed analyses of death and disease, competence, consent, justification for moral rule violations, confidentiality, paternalism, and physician-assisted suicide are self-contained gems of lucid ethical argumentation.

1997 336 pp. 511430-2 $34.95

SURGICAL ETHICS

Edited by Laurence B. McCullough, James W. Jones, and Baruch A. Brody

"The first universal compendium of the content and enigmas of surgical ethics. This complex web of human relationships is of the utmost importance to the effectiveness, safety, and social acceptability of modern surgical care. The authors are to be congratulated on this wonderful book."—Francis D. Moore, Moseley Professor of Surgery, Harvard Medical School

April 1998 448 pp. 510347-5 $45.00

HUMAN RIGHTS AND PUBLIC HEALTH IN THE AIDS PANDEMIC

Lawrence O. Gostin and Zita Lazzarini

This volume examines issues—HIV testing, screening, partner notification, isolation, quarantine, and criminalization of persons with HIV/AIDS—from the standpoint of international human rights law. The authors evaluate AIDS policies in developed and developing countries, and analyze three case histories significant in the HIV/AIDS pandemic.

1997 232 pp. 511442-6 $29.95

ETHICS AND EPIDEMIOLOGY

Edited by Steven S. Coughlin and Tom L. Beauchamp

"A superb effort... Heretofore, no publication has dealt exclusively with the ethical aspects of epidemiological research. This publication serves as an excellent starting point..."—Medical Humanities Review

1996 320 pp. 510242-8 $49.95

BENCHMARKS OF FAIRNESS FOR HEALTH CARE REFORM

Norman Daniels, Donald Light, and Ronald Caplan
