John Hatsell (1733–1820) held the office of Clerk of the House of Commons from 1768 to 1820. In his letters and Memorabilia entries – published here for the first time – Hatsell brought to bear his intimate familiarity with high politics during the reigns of George III. Hatsell’s expertise in financial policy inspired him to offer counsel to Pitt the Younger during Pitt’s first premiership (1783–1801). Hatsell’s other correspondents include Henry Addington (speaker 1789–1801 and prime minister 1801–1804), Charles Abbot (speaker 1802–1817), and William Eden (diplomat and president of the Board of Trade in the Ministry of All the Talents, 1806–1807). Hatsell centres his attention on the enduring constitutional significance of the changes he experienced in his public and private life. Hatsell’s wry humour is often on display as he reveals the lighter side of social and political life in Great Britain.

PETER J. ASCHENBRENNER is the National Convenor (US) for the International Commission for the History of Representative and Parliamentary Institutions. He is the author of British and American Foundings of Parliamentary Science 1774–1801 (2017). He also served as United States Magistrate Judge in Alaska.

COLIN LEE has been a Clerk in the House of Commons for over thirty years and is Principal Clerk of the Table Office. He has authored several articles and chapters in co-authored studies on the subject of parliamentary procedure and practice, both past and present.

Cover photo: Detail from John Hatsell, James Northcote © Parliamentary Art Collection, WOA 2005. www.parliament.uk/art