Instructions for contributors
The International Journal of Law in Context is the companion journal to the Law in Context book series. It is a forum for interdisciplinary legal studies and offers intellectual space for ground-breaking critical research. It publishes conceptual work about law and its relationship with other disciplines, including but not limited to, science, literature, humanities, philosophy, sociology, psychology, ethics, history and geography. The journal explores and expands the boundaries of law and legal studies.

Full instructions for contributors are available at journals.cambridge.org/ijc.

Articles must be word-processed and double-spaced. A 4 or American Quarto paper should be used. Three copies should be submitted.

Any article containing material subject to copyright restrictions other than those owned or controlled by the contributor must be accompanied by appropriate permission from the relevant copyright holder(s).

For referencing see the Harvard Style System. Citations and footnotes should be placed in the text, with a page reference where relevant, together with an alphabetically ordered end list. On the following pages in the Reference List.

Citations in new editions of previously published works should include the date of the original edition and the new edition in the text and in the reference list e.g. Mill (1899/1968).

Footnotes should be used rather than end notes. Each time a case is referred to in the text, the case report reference should be used in the footnote. One report reference is sufficient.

References to UK statutes should be made as follows:
Matrimonial Causes Act 1973, s.25

References to US statutes should be made as follows:
American Quarts paper should be used.

Table should be presented on separate sheets at the end of the article and should have short descriptive titles. Figures should be clearly numbered and should have explanatory captions. The author must indicate where Tables and Figures should be placed in the text.

Proof
Only essential typographical or factual errors may be changed at proof stage, but the contributor is responsible for any other changes. Print proofs may be at certain cost at proof stage.
