Ideas, Interests, and American Trade Policy

JUDITH GOLDSTEIN

To citizens and political analysts alike, U.S. trade law is an incoherent conglomeration of policies, both liberal and protectionist. Seeking to understand the contradictions in American policy, Goldstein demonstrates the impact of the political past on today's trade decisions. CORNELL STUDIES IN POLITICAL ECONOMY $39.95 cloth, $13.95 paper

Ideas and Foreign Policy

Beliefs, Institutions, and Political Change

EDITED BY JUDITH GOLDSTEIN AND ROBERT O. KEOHANE

Do people's beliefs help to explain foreign policy decisions, or is political activity better understood as the self-interested behavior of key actors? The collaborative effort of a group of distinguished scholars, this volume breaks new ground in demonstrating how ideas can shape policy even when actors are motivated by rational self-interest. CORNELL STUDIES IN POLITICAL ECONOMY $37.50 cloth, $14.95 paper

The Politics of Finance in Developing Countries

EDITED BY STEPHAN HAGGARD, CHUNG H. LEE, AND SYLVIA MAXFIELD

Ten original essays examine the political and institutional factors that influence the initiation and efficiency of preferential credit policies in Korea, Taiwan, Thailand, Indonesia, the Philippines, Chile, Mexico, and Brazil. CORNELL STUDIES IN POLITICAL ECONOMY $42.50 cloth, $16.95 paper

States and the Reemergence of Global Finance

From Bretton Woods to the 1990s

ERIC HELLEINER

Most accounts explain the postwar globalization of financial markets as a product of unstoppable technological and market forces. Helleiner provides the first comprehensive political history of the phenomenon, one that details and explains the central role played by states in permitting and encouraging financial globalization. $29.95

Mercantile States and the World Oil Cartel, 1900–1939

GREGORY P. NOWELL

"Nowell's prodigious study confronts the major assumptions of 'strong state' autonomy in the tradition of political Realism with challenging counter-examples drawn primarily from French interwar experience. He puts more recent OPEC experience in an intriguing historical perspective."—Hayward R. Alker, Jr., Massachusetts Institute of Technology. CORNELL STUDIES IN POLITICAL ECONOMY. $45.00

The Cooperative Edge

The Internal Politics of International Cartels

DEBORA L. SPAR

"Spar sheds new light on international cooperation by examining the inner workings of both state and private cartel efforts in diamonds, uranium, gold and silver. Spar's primer on cartels is spiced with lively, compelling stories of collusion."—Stephan Haggard, University of California, San Diego. CORNELL STUDIES IN POLITICAL ECONOMY. $29.95

Scientific Inference in Qualitative Research

Gary King,
Robert O. Keohane,
and Sidney Verba

Gary King, Robert Keohane, and Sidney Verba have produced a farsighted and timely book that promises to sharpen and strengthen a wide range of research. These leading scholars, each representing diverse academic traditions, have developed a unified approach to valid descriptive and causal inference in qualitative research, where numerical measurement is either impossible or undesirable. Their book demonstrates that the same logic of inference underlies both good quantitative and good qualitative research designs. This work will be enormously useful to qualitative researchers of all traditions and substantive fields.

DEMOCRACY AND INTERNATIONAL TRADE

Britain, France, and the United States, 1860-1990
Daniel Verdier

In this ambitious exploration of how foreign trade policy is made in democratic regimes, Daniel Verdier casts doubt on theories that neglect voters. Constructing a general theory in which existing theories function as partial explanations, he shows that trade institutions are not fixed entities but products of political competition. Verdier then offers a thorough analysis of how foreign trade policy was made in France, Britain, and the United States during the period from 1860 through 1990. He discloses a reality startlingly different from previous understandings of American and French trade policies.

"This book deserves careful reading from anyone interested in theories of international and comparative political economy or the new institutionalism."

—Peter F. Cowhey, University of California, San Diego

COERCIVE COOPERATION

Explaining Multilateral
Economic Sanctions

Lisa L. Martin

This innovative study shows that multilateral sanctions are coercive in their pressure on their target and in their origin: the sanctions themselves frequently result from coercive policies, with one state attempting to coerce others through persuasion, threats, and promises. To analyze this process, Lisa Martin uses a novel methodology combining game-theoretic models, statistical analysis, and case studies.

"A major theoretical and substantive contribution to the study of international cooperation and the imposition of economic sanctions."—Choice
