Language and Linguistics
Books and Journals from Cambridge University Press

We are the world's leading publisher in language and linguistics, with a wide-ranging list of journals and books covering the scope of this discipline.

Our publishing encompasses theoretical, applied and sociolinguistics, and represents a breadth of subfields, including grammar and syntax, phonetics and phonology, semantics and pragmatics, historical linguistics, discourse and conversation analysis, psycholinguistics and neurolinguistics, and first and second language acquisition.

Our acclaimed book list includes state-of-the-art monographs as well as major reference works, guides to research methods, and textbooks at all levels.

Notes for contributors
(1) Academic research-based articles can be of two types. Those intended for scrutiny by the journal editors alone can range up to c. 4,000 words in length. Those which authors wish to go forward to further scrutiny beyond the editorial team (that is, for peer review) can range up to c. 6,000 words. Authors should make it clear whether they wish their submissions to be for ‘editor review’ or ‘peer review’. Although every effort will be made to reach a decision on peer-review articles quickly, delays might sometimes occur in this process.
(2) Shorter items of comment and information, and reviews of print and electronic materials, are also welcome, and should be in the 500–2,000 word range.

(3) Material is managed by email and attachment to and from the editors. englishtoday@cambridge.org

(4) Subsidiary text and illustrative material (lists, specimens, photographs, diagrams, and cartoons, etc.) can be added to articles, where necessary in numbered panels and tables, and are encouraged. Any notes should be concise, and references/bibliography should be limited to the content of the paper. Website references should be in a list of their own after all other material.

(5) Every effort is made to retain distinctive usage and conventions, such as British or American spelling, special punctuation, and IPA symbols. Subheadings should be used in longer texts, and if specimens, photographs, diagrams, and cartoons, etc. can be added to articles, where necessary in Every effort is made to reply quickly, but this might sometimes occur in this process. (7) Notification of the acceptance of an article for publication may be accompanied by copies of a Cambridge copyright release form, one to be retained, the other to be returned (completed and signed). (8) The author(s) of a submission should provide 100–150 words of biography (per person).

Prospective writers who are not regular readers of English Today should study the journal before submitting material. Preferably they should write/email to introduce themselves, proposing a topic and providing a plan or specimen. Every effort is made to reply quickly, but this is not always possible.

(10) Unsolicited articles that could interest readers of ET but that were not written with the journal in mind are usually not suitable without a degree of rewriting and restructuring. Circumstances vary, and it may or may not be possible for the Editors to advise on this more suitably. Unsolicited articles that cannot be used are not returned.

(11) Contributors will be supplied with a PDF file of their contribution
