The Cambridge Journal of Postcolonial Literary Inquiry is a new peer-reviewed journal that aims to deepen our grasp of postcolonial literary history while enabling us to stay comprehensively informed of all critical developments in the field. The journal will provide a forum for publishing research covering the full spectrum of postcolonial critical readings and approaches, whether these center on established or lesser known postcolonial writers or draw upon fields such as Modernism, Medievalism, Shakespeare and Victorian Studies that have hitherto not been considered central to postcolonial literary studies, yet have generated some of the best insights on postcolonialism. The journal aims to be critically robust, historically nuanced, and will put the broadly defined areas of literature and aesthetics at the center of postcolonial exploration and critique. Essays of up to 8000 words on any aspect of postcolonial literature, literary history and aesthetics should be sent to The Editor at pli@cambridge.org.

Instructions for Contributors

PREPARING YOUR MANUSCRIPT

Manuscript submissions to the journal should be between a maximum of 8,000 words, not including notes. On rare occasions, the editors will give consideration to a lengthier submission of exceptional quality. The text and bibliographic documentation of the manuscript must conform to the Chicago Manual of Style (CMOS), 16th edition. We require that authors use footnotes rather than endnotes and that they doublespace the entire manuscript.

Manuscripts must have a separate title page that includes the author’s name, affiliation, e-mail address, postal address, an abstract of no more than 150 words, a list of keywords, and an author bio of no more than 50 words. The author’s name should appear nowhere else in the manuscript. All references to the author’s work in the text or notes should be in the third person.

In the footnotes, full bibliographical documentation must be given in the first reference. For example: Bill Ashcroft, Gareth Griffiths, and Helen Tiffin, eds. The Post-colonial Studies Reader (London: Routledge, 1995).

In subsequent references use “ibid.” when the reference is clear; in other cases, use a shortened version of the main title. (The journal’s house style does not use “op. cit.”) For example:

Ibid., 65–66.

Auerbach, “Philology.” 12.

SUBMITTING YOUR MANUSCRIPT

The Cambridge Journal of Postcolonial Literary Inquiry has moved to an online submission and peer-review system, ScholarOne. Papers should be submitted via the following website: https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/pli. If you do not already have an account, you will be asked to create one. If you require any assistance with using this system, please contact the editorial office at: pli.cambridge@gmail.com.

PROOFS

Authors will be sent proofs via email. They should mark the PDF proof electronically or in hard copy and are requested to return their proof corrections by email within three days of receipt. Please let the Editorial Office know of any occasions you’d like to be away for any extended period at that time, or if the proofs should be sent to anywhere other than your normal email address. The publisher reserves the right to charge authors for excessive correction of nontypographical errors.

Individual articles will publish online ahead of print publication as a FirstView article. Articles are corrected and published online as soon as possible after they are corrected. This means that articles are published very quickly and publication is not delayed until they can be included in a print issue.

Authors of articles and review essays (but not book reviews) will receive a .pdf file of their contribution upon publication.
