

Tables

1	Convergence of the empirical studies on the nontechnical competencies that lawyers and legal employers identify as important for the practice of law	page 18
2	Thomson Reuters interviews: What are the top ten competencies that are needed for a successful twenty-first century lawyer?	19
3	Thomson Reuters surveys: What are the top ten competencies that are needed for a successful twenty-first century lawyer?	19
4	Synthesis of the Thomson Reuters interview and survey data: Top competencies needed for a successful twenty-first century lawyer	20
5	IAALS's analysis to identify the lawyer competencies that appeared in 5 percent or more of the AVVO reviews of lawyers in the period 2007–2017	21
6	2019 BTI Consulting Group survey of law firm client service performance (350 interviews with senior in-house counsel)	22
7	2020 NCBE Survey Ranking of the Most Critical Skills and Abilities for Newly Licensed Lawyers	23
8	IAALS 2020 Twelve Building Blocks of Minimum Competence for a New Lawyer	24
9	Competencies Highlighted in Regan and Rohrer's Interviews with 278 Law Firm Partners	25
10	The five core components of competency-based medical education	56
11	ACGME harmonized milestone on evidence-based and informed practice	58
12	A comparison of traditional versus competency-based medical education	59
13	The five core components of competency-based legal education	61
14	The purpose and function of Milestones for the four PD&F goals	63
15	Comparison of mentors and coaches	77

16	Foundational competencies for a law student mentor/coach	80
17	Experiences in the 1L year and the following summer that 50 percent or more of the students thought had a great, substantial, or moderate impact on their transition from thinking and acting like a student to thinking and acting like a junior lawyer with respect to ownership over continuous professional development	86
18	Law school faculty and staff observing students on any of the four PD&F goals (especially in authentic professional experiences)	93
19	Holloran Center Milestone Model on assessment of student's ownership of continuous professional development (self-directedness)	100
20	Milestone Model on assessment of student's stage of development on a deep responsibility and service orientation to others, especially the client	104
21	Milestone Model on client-centered problem solving and good judgment	107
22	Milestone Model on well-being practices	110
23	Transitions on ownership over a student's continuous professional development that should be included in a survey after the summer between the 2L and 3L years, and a survey at the end of the 3L year	111
24	Percentage of law schools adopting a learning outcome building on a student's internalized responsibility and service to others	120
25	The thirteen most helpful hiring criteria for employers hiring students for postgraduation employment	144