

Previous Articles from Volume 5

Vol. 5, No. 1 Special Issue: Urban Public Policy: Historical Modes and Methods, Martin V. Melosi, guest editor

Carl Abbott, "Five Downtown Strategies: Policy Discourse and Downtown Planning Since 1945"

Paul George Lewis, "Housing and American Privatism: The Origins and Evolution of Subsidized Home Ownership Policy"

Noel A. Cazenave, "Chicago Influences on the War on Poverty"

Sy Adler, "The Evolution of Federal Transit Policy"

Martin V. Melosi, "Down in the Dumps: Is There a Garbage Crisis in America?"

Harold L. Platt, "World War I and the Birth of American Regionalism"

Alan Mayne, "City as Artifact: Heritage Preservation in Comparative Perspective"

Seymour Mandelbaum, "Reading Old Plans"

Vol 5, No. 2

Jaclyn Greenberg, "The Limits of Legislation: Katherine Philips Edson, Practical Politics, and the Minimum Wage Law in California, 1913–1922"

Mark Stern, "Calculating Visions: Civil Rights Legislation in the Kennedy and Johnson Years"

Richard Kielbowicz, "Origins of the Junk Mail Controversy: A Media Battle Over Advertising and Postal Policy"

Richard H.K. Vietor, "Government Policy and Energy Markets: A Review Essay"

Vol. 5.3

Douglas E. Ashford, "The Historical and Political Foundations of the Welfare State: A Lost Opportunity for the Left?"

Gerald Berk, "Adversarial by Design: Railroads and the State, 1887–1916"

William H. Becker, FORUM: "The Impact of America's Becoming Corporate: A Review Essay" (with responses from Olivier Zunz, Morton Keller, and Larry G. Gerber)

Forthcoming Articles

Marc Allen Eisner (Wesleyan University), "Institutional History and the Origins of Policy Change: Exploring Changes in Antitrust Policy"

Samuel B. Hoff (Delaware State University), "The Presidential Pocket Veto: Its Use and Legality"

Sanford Lakoff (University of California, San Diego), "Desert Snowstorm: Revisionism and the Gulf War"

William Gienapp (Harvard University), "The Myth of Class in Jacksonian America," with responses from Stephanie McCurry and Herbert Hovenkamp

Special Issues

Hugh Davis Graham (Vanderbilt University), Civil Rights (Winter 1994)

Donald T. Critchlow (Saint Louis University), Birth Control and Reproduction (Winter 1995)