Contents

313 Editorial – educational networks, educational identities: connecting national and global perspectives
Heather Ellis and Simone M. Müller

320 ‘Born in America, in Europe bred, in Africa travell’d and in Asia wed’: Elihu Yale, material culture, and actor networks from the seventeenth century to the twenty-first
Elizabeth Kuebler-Wolf

344 Chinese abolitionism: the Chinese Educational Mission in Connecticut, Cuba, and Peru
Steffen Kimmer

365 Scholarly identities in war and peace: the Paris Peace Conference and the mobilization of intellect
Tomás Irish

387 Catholic nuns in transnational mission, 1528-2015
Anne O’Brien

409 Circuits of wealth, circuits of sorrow: financing the illegal transatlantic slave trade in the age of suppression, 1850–66
John A. E. Harris

430 Centring the periphery: northern Morocco as a hub of transnational anti-colonial activism, 1930–43
David Sennes

451 Global fascism: geography, timing, support, and strategy
Tanja Jacoby

473 REVIEW ARTICLE

481 REVIEWS
Journal of Global History is published by Cambridge University Press.

Instructions to Contributors

Editorial Policy

The Journal of Global History seeks scholarly articles that engage with the history of states, societies, and regions in their connections with each other. The journal particularly welcomes comparative, contextual, and transnational studies. It also publishes book reviews, review essays, and special issues.

1. Submission

All authors are required to sign a Statement of Ownership and Transfer Agreement, and the publisher reserves the right to charge fees for copyright clearance at the authors’ expense, if they so request.

2. Manuscript preparation

Articles should be no longer than 12,500 words, including footnotes, unless authors obtain permission from the editors. The length of review articles and reviews will be set at a maximum of 2,000 words, and no more than 1,000 words in footnotes. Manuscripts should be double-spaced.

3. Copyright

All authors should sign a copyright transfer agreement at the end of the article. The publisher retains the right to reproduce and distribute the article in any form, including electronic publication and all forms of media, including electronic publication.

4. References

Contributors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any material in which they do not hold copyright for world-wide publication in all forms and media, including electronic publication, and for ensuring that all appropriate acknowledgements are included in their text.

5. Proofs

Typographical or factual errors only may be changed at the typesetter’s proof stage. The publisher reserves the right to charge contributors for correction of non-typographical errors. All amendments need to be agreed by the journal editor. Articles that are corrected after the initial proof stage will attract a penalty.

6. Offprints

The journal reserves the right to make final editorial decisions.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Page</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Authors</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>313</td>
<td>Editorial – educational networks, educational identities: connecting national and global perspectives</td>
<td>Heather Ellis and Simone M. Müller</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>320</td>
<td>‘Born in America, in Europe bred, in Africa travell’d and in Asia wed’: Elihu Yale, material culture, and actor networks from the seventeenth century to the twenty-first century</td>
<td>Elizabeth Kuebler-Wolf</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>344</td>
<td>Chinese abolitionism: the Chinese Educational Mission in Connecticut, Cuba, and Peru</td>
<td>Steffen Rimner</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>365</td>
<td>Scholarly identities in war and peace: the Paris Peace Conference and the mobilization of intellect</td>
<td>Tomás Irish</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>387</td>
<td>Catholic nuns in transnational mission, 1528–2015</td>
<td>Anne O’Brien</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>409</td>
<td>Circuits of wealth, circuits of sorrow: financing the illegal transatlantic slave trade in the age of suppression, 1850–66</td>
<td>John A. E. Harris</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>430</td>
<td>Centring the periphery: northern Morocco as a hub of transnational anti-colonial activism, 1930–43</td>
<td>David Stenner</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>451</td>
<td>Global fascism: geography, timing, support, and strategy</td>
<td>Tim Jacoby</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>473</td>
<td>Migration studies: deep time and global approaches</td>
<td>Dirk Hoerder</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>481</td>
<td>Merry Wiesner-Hanks on Sebastian Conrad’s What is global history?</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>485</td>
<td>Michael Barnett on Bruno Cabanes’s The Great War and the origins of humanitarianism, 1918–1924</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>488</td>
<td>Michael Riemens on Susan Pedersen’s The guardians: the League of Nations and the crisis of empire</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>