Leiden Journal of International Law

Firmly established as one of Europe’s leading journals in the field, Leiden Journal of International Law (LJIL) provides a forum for two vital areas, namely international legal theory and international dispute settlement. It is unique in providing the most comprehensive coverage of the world’s most important international tribunals in The Hague and elsewhere (such as the ICJ, ICTY, ICC and others), as well as examining new trends in international legal thinking. LJIL is essential reading for academics and practitioners who need to stay abreast of recent developments in these areas.

Instructions for contributors

EDITORS POLICY

Leiden Journal of International Law is firmly established as one of Europe’s leading journals in the field. It provides a forum for two vital areas, namely international legal theory and international dispute settlement. It is unique in providing the most comprehensive coverage of the world’s most important international tribunals in The Hague and elsewhere (such as the ICJ, ICTY, ICC and others), as well as examining new trends in international legal thinking. LJIL is essential reading for academics and practitioners who need to stay abreast of recent developments. Only articles which fall within the scope of the journal will be considered for publication.

SUBLISSIONS

Articles in good English to be considered for publication should be submitted online at http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/ljil. More information can be found at the editors’ website www.grotiuscentre.org (under LJIL).

Submission of a paper will be taken to imply that neither the article as a whole, nor any substantial part of it, has been published previously nor is it being considered for publication elsewhere. Upon acceptance of a paper, the authors will be asked to assign copyright to the Foundation of the Leiden Journal of International Law.

Contributors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any materials, including photographs and illustrations for which they do not hold copyright, and for ensuring that the appropriate acknowledgements are included in the manuscript.

All contributions to LJIL are peer-reviewed.

MANUSCRIPT PREPARATION

COPYING

This journal is registered with the Copyright Clearance Center, 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923, USA (www.copyright.com). Organizations in the USA which are also registered with CCC. This consent does not extend to multiple copying beyond the limits permitted by, sections 107 and 108 of US Copyright law) subject to payment to the CCC. Consent is given for the reproduction of translations and abbreviations for which they do not hold copyright, and for ensuring that the appropriate acknowledgements are included in the manuscript.

ARTICLES

Firmly established as one of Europe’s leading journals in the field. It provides a forum for two vital areas, namely international legal theory and international dispute settlement. It is unique in providing the most comprehensive coverage of the world’s most important international tribunals in The Hague and elsewhere (such as the ICJ, ICTY, ICC and others), as well as examining new trends in international legal thinking. LJIL is essential reading for academics and practitioners who need to stay abreast of recent developments. Only articles which fall within the scope of the journal will be considered for publication.

SUBLISSIONS

Articles in good English to be considered for publication should be submitted online at http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/ljil. More information can be found at the editors’ website www.grotiuscentre.org (under LJIL).

Submission of a paper will be taken to imply that neither the article as a whole, nor any substantial part of it, has been published previously nor is it being considered for publication elsewhere. Upon acceptance of a paper, the authors will be asked to assign copyright to the Foundation of the Leiden Journal of International Law.

Contributors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any materials, including photographs and illustrations for which they do not hold copyright, and for ensuring that the appropriate acknowledgements are included in the manuscript.

All contributions to LJIL are peer-reviewed.
Contents

EDITORIAL
Eric de Brabandere and Ingo Venzke

INTERNATIONAL LEGAL THEORY
289 State Consent and Disagreement in International Law-Making. Dissolving the Paradox
Samantha Brown

317 The Concept(s) of Accountability: Form in Search of Substance
Daniëlle Hamu Baait

341 Towards a Humanised International “Constitution”?
Vassilis P. Tzevelekos and Lucas Limnios

355 A Disaggregative View of Customary International Law-Making
Emmanuel Jugiatis

INTERNATIONAL LAW AND PRACTICE
389 Waltzing on the Vienna Consensus on Drug Control? Tensions in the International System for the Control of Drugs
Neil Boister

411 IPRs, Public Health, and International Trade: An International Law Perspective on the TRIPS Amendment
Wendy Guar

441 The Advisory Jurisdiction of the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea: Comments on the Report for an Advisory Opinion Submitted by the Sub-Regional Fisheries Commission
Marcio Landi

465 Disconnecting Humanitarian Law from EU Subsidiary Protection: A Hypothesis of Defragmentation of International Law
Sabine Jako-Nicola

485 Challenges in Implementing the European Convention against Trafficking in Human Organs
Aleksandra Peremoh

503 Climate-Resilient Crops and International Climate Change Adaptation Law
Amy Saul

HAGUE INTERNATIONAL TRIBUNALS
International Court of Justice
539 Scientific Fact-Finding at the International Court of Justice: An Appraisal in the Aftermath of the Whaling Case
Malene Mico Menega

551 ‘Contested Collisions’ Conditions for a Successful Collision Management – The Example of Article 16 of the Rome Statute
Kevin Blom and Nora Markard

577 Legal Recharacterization and the Materiality of Facts at the International Criminal Court: Which Changes Are Permissible
Eline Fry

BIBLIOGRAPHY
599 Books and Articles in the Field of the Prevention and Peaceful Settlement of Disputes
Raymond Ribbink

BOOK REVIEWS
605 Emmanuel Tournier-Jouannet, A Short Introduction to International Law
Inger Cousins

608 Maurie Abenhaim, An Age of Neutral Great Power Politics, 1815–1934
Shavana Musa

611 Shawkat Alam, Samadu Marapatta, Carmen G. González and Jona Rassas, International Environmental Law and the Global South
Danielle S. Chaguta