Bright Star of Exile Jacob Adler and the Yiddish Theatre

Lulla Rosenfeld

Introduction by Harold Clurman

“Lusty, ambitious, mercurial,”* Jacob Adler was the king of the Yiddish theatre. Now, in this panoramic history, his granddaughter tells the magnificent story of his impassioned life on and off the stage.

“Intertwines a political history, and Jewish history, and a theatrical history with the life of an extraordinary man.... Moving, fascinating, hilarious, and touching—I could not put it down.” —Jerome Robbins

“Days of starvation and feast, of triumph and failure, of joy and sorrow are glowingly reported.... Each step of the journey is part of the world of entertainment.” —Dore Schary

“Written with warmth and humor...filled with rich characters and heart-warming experiences. I had a wonderful time!”

—Joseph Stein, author of Fiddler on the Roof

Richard Foreman

Plays and Manifestos

Edited, with an Introduction, by Kate Davy. The texts of eight of the twelve plays Richard Foreman has produced for his Ontological-Hysteric Theatre appear in this new book (six of them previously unpublished) along with three manifestos on theatre art. Kate Davy's perceptive introduction examines the major influences on Foreman's work and skillfully guides the reader to an understanding of how to approach the texts. Illustrated. $9.75 paper; $18.50 cloth

Ur-Drama

The Origins of Theatre

By Ernest Theodore Kirby. A provoking and controversial work, Ur-Drama contradicts the common view of the origin of theatre as having been founded in fertility worship and organized in a seasonal pattern. E. T. Kirby demonstrates here how many of the world's most important theatre forms—ancient Greek drama, Sanskrit drama, Chinese classical drama, and Japanese noh drama—were developed from early shamanistic rituals, rather than fertility worship. Illustrated. $12.50

The New Theatre

Performance Documentation

Edited by Michael Kirby. Entirely reprinted from The Drama Review, The New Theatre covers a wide range of experimental and avant-garde performances, offering a recreation of various theatrical experiences occurring in contemporary drama. Illustrated. $10.00

SHERLOCK HOLMES A New Adventure

by Thomas Hinton

Playwright Thomas Hinton has taken several of the Sherlock Holmes characters and interwoven them into a brand new adventure. In this escapade of mystery and merriment, Sherlock Holmes matches wits with the nefarious Professor Moriarty, while English nobility, the London underworld and a beautiful, evil woman are involved with the famous detective and his companion, Dr. Watson, in kidnapping, blackmail, and murder.

Butter's Going Up

A Critical Analysis of Harold Pinter's Work
Steven H. Gale

"Steven Gale's book on Pinter is sophisticated yet simple like Pinter's best works and is infinitely more readable than most of the other criticism I've encountered. His evaluation of the playwright's major preoccupations is more logical and interesting than what other critics have noted. More than any other critic of Pinter, Gale takes the plays for what they are and describes what they are about. This is no small achievement." Kimball King

Technical Theatre

— Auditions and Personal Interviews Conducted Nationally —

A unique approach to all areas of Professional Theatre Training: The Professional Acting Program accepts a very limited number of students, selected by national auditions and interviews, only once every three years. In this way the energies of the acting faculty can be devoted to the individual development of a small number of talented students. The curriculum consists of rigorous and thorough studio training in voice, speech, movement, and acting, all of which are taught in an inter-related manner. Students enjoy multiple performance opportunities in a wide variety of theatrical styles, with a particular emphasis on classical plays. The Design for Performance, Technical Theatre, and Costume Construction programs offer intensive training in Theatre, Dance, Film/Video, and Opera. The faculty is composed of leading theatre artists, trainers, and scholars who are actively involved in the professional theatre. All areas afford selected students internship opportunities with professional theatres such as the Milwaukee Repertory Theatre Company.

1977-78 13th Edition

For a dozen years now this Directory has been used the world over by poets, writers, librarians, students of contemporary literature, creative writing classes and others as a guide to the ever-increasing community of small and independent magazines and presses. It contains such important data as name, address, editor(s), price, circulation, frequency, type of material used, payment rates, rights purchased, discount schedules, size, personal statements by editors, number of issues/titles published in the previous year and projected in the coming year, etc. The Directory has been called "the first and by far the best..." by Bill Katz in Magazine Selection (R.R. Bowker). ALA's Choice says it's "the most comprehensive and detailed listing of non-establishment periodicals...that rarity among reference books, a directory that is a delight to read." Bob Miles (Small Press Book Club) calls it "the one indispensable book", and the Wall Street Journal claims it's "the Bible of the business".

NEW

DRAMA ON STAGE, 2nd Edition

RANDOLPH GOODMAN, Brooklyn College. Revised anthology covers Western theater from the early Greeks to the present, with an emphasis on the play as a production script to be performed, rather than a work to be read. The ten plays selected represent the most important traditional types and styles, as well as musical comedy and avant-garde theater. Each selection is accompanied by a biography of the playwright, an analysis of the play, the production record, and interviews with professional theater people who have been associated with its production. 640 pages • ISBN 0-03-020326-0 • 1978

Contents: Medea by Euripides; Pseudolus by Plautus; Everyman by Plautus (translated by R. Goodman); Macbeth by William Shakespeare; The Misanthrope by Moliere; St. Patrick's Day by Richard Brinsley Sheridan; An Enemy of the People by Henrik Ibsen; A Streetcar Named Desire by Tennessee Williams; The Visit by Friedrich Dürrenmatt; Krapp's Last Tape by Samuel Beckett.

WORKING A SCENE: AN ACTOR'S APPROACH

CHARLES MCGAW, Goodman School of Drama. New text provides a concise and systematic approach to preparing a scene for performance. McGaw eliminates the "trial and error" method of working. Instead, he guides students toward a specific way of developing a character and playing a role. Divided into three parts, the text first introduces basic problems in preparing a scene, then comprehensively analyzes two contrasting scenes, followed by 20 additional scenes for analysis and rehearsal. Scenes are selected for variety of style, period and male/female roles to suit your classroom needs.

Features include suggestions for improvisational exercises, a bibliography that facilitates additional research, and blank pages opposite each page of script that enable students to record their analysis and create a "score" for rehearsing and playing the role. 224 pages • ISBN 0-03-080086-2 • 1977

CONTENTS: Preface Part I. Introduction: Exploring a Scene; Rehearsing a Scene. Part II. Two Scenes Comprehensively Analyzed: From The Crucible by Arthur Miller; From When You Comin Back, Red Ryder? by Mark Medoff. Part III. Scenes for Analysis and Rehearsal: From The Summer of the Seventeenth Doll by Ray Lawler; From A Far Country by Henry Denker; From The Journey of the Fifth Horse by Ronald Ribman; From Ludlow Fair by Lanford Wilson; From The Subject was Roses by Frank Gilroy; From Desire Under the Elms by Eugene O'Neill; From Small Craft Warnings by Tennessee Williams; From Cowboys #2 by Sam Shepard; From The Gloaming, Oh My Darling by Megan Terry; From Catch 22 by Joseph Heller; From The Chairs by Eugene Ionesco; From A Man for All Seasons by Robert Bolt; From The Prodigal by Jack Richardson; From The Devil's Disciple by George Bernard Shaw; From The Wild Duck by Henrik Ibsen; From Hedda Gabler by Henrik Ibsen; From A Month in the Country by Ivan Turgenev; From The Seaquill by Anton Chekhov; From The Rivals by Richard Brinsley Sheridan; From She Stoops to Conquer by Oliver Goldsmith.

ACTING IS BELIEVING, 3rd Edition

CHARLES MCGAW, Goodman School of Drama. Text deals with the skills needed not only to develop the actor into an expressive instrument, but that will also enable him to analyze a play, relating characters to the playwright's meaning, and to acquire the technical facility to communicate that meaning to an audience. The material is organized in a logical progression from individual exercises in self-exploration to the creation and performance of a role in a dramatic masterpiece.

Included is a detailed analysis, taken from the actor's point of view, of Chekhov's The Proposal, a chapter on the mechanics of line reading, and more exercises from current plays.

288 pages • ISBN 0-03-089568-5 • 1975

CONTENTS: Part I. The Actor and Himself: Beginning Your Training; Discovering the Physical Actions; Finding a Purpose; Taking it Easy; Directing Your Attention; Seeing Things; Relating to Things. Part II. The Actor and the Play: Getting into the Part; Getting into Character; Getting into the Play; Interpreting the Lines; Mastering the Mechanics. Part III. The Actor and the Production: Learning the Lines; Rehearsing the Play; Playing the Part; Appendix: Short Plays for Study and Practice; Chekhov, The Proposal; Schisgal, The Typists.

THE ESSENTIAL THEATRE

OSCAR G. BROCKETT, Indiana University. A brief but thorough version of the author's The Theatre: An Introduction, Third Edition, this text covers all introductory theatre topics: historical, critical, esthetic, practical. Beginning with the fundamentals, it discusses theatre as art, and explains elements of dramatic structure, form, and style. Traces theatre development from the Greeks to the present, contemporary practices in America are explored—with material on writing, producing, directing, acting, scenic design, costuming, and lighting. Special features include: a full chapter on the theatre since 1960, and an appendix on job opportunities. 389 pages • ISBN 0-03-089810-2 • 1976

The Playwright, Producer, and Director; 13. The Actor; 14. Scene Design and Architecture; 15. Costume and Makeup; 16. Lighting, Sound, and Multimedia; Appendix: Opportunities to Work in the Theatre; Bibliography.

THE THEATRE: AN INTRODUCTION, 3rd Edition

OSCAR G. BROCKETT, Indiana University. Extensively illustrated text introduces students to the practical, theoretical, historical and contemporary aspects of the theatre, discussing the nature and structure of drama, drama criticism, and the theatre as an art form. Presents a survey of the development of theatre and drama in the West, from ancient Greece to the present. Includes a special section devoted to Oriental theatre and drama. As theatrical and dramatic developments are presented simultaneously, the student can gain an understanding of both the performing and literary states of the art historically and chronologically.

Individual chapters focus on each of the theatre arts: playwriting, directing, acting, scene design, lighting, costuming, music, and dance. The various artistic principles underlying each of these are discussed, as well as the means and methods used by artists working in the particular area.

The National Shakespeare Company Conservatory

*Two Year Professional
Training Program for the Actor*

"The training of the actor is no more of a mystery than the training of a musician or dancer. As with the musician, the actor learns to play an instrument; as with the dancer, the instrument is the body. For both, imagination, intelligence and discipline are applied to a craft so that an expressive and creative moment can take place."

Philip Meister
Director

The National Shakespeare Company Conservatory is dedicated to the premise that an actor whose training is rooted in the disciplines necessary for classical literature is better prepared for the demands of contemporary theatre, film and television.

The program is designed to prepare all facets of the actor's instrument: body, imagination, intellect. However, most important is the special attention The Conservatory pays to the integration of all of these aspects in the training process.

The Conservatory training program is a two year (four term) curriculum.

Director PETER LAYTON

The Drama Studio is the only major British drama school specializing exclusively in the training of post-graduate and other advanced students.

The course provides an intensive one-year full-time training with practical instruction in acting, movement, speech, voice production, singing, characterization, mime, stage fighting, television and radio techniques, improvisation, and text study, with rehearsals leading to monthly workshop performances.

The course also includes audition and interview techniques, and deals with the problems of finding work in the acting profession.

Further details are obtainable from:
The Drama Studio, Grange Court,
1 Grange Road, London W5 5QN, England
or from the Head of your Drama Department.

New York University
School of the Arts
Department of Drama, Undergraduate

IS OFFERING AN ALTERNATIVE PROGRAM IN:

EXPERIMENTAL THEATRE

The Department of Drama, Undergraduate, which offers a B.F.A. degree in acting, is pleased to announce an alternative program of study with the Experimental Theatre Wing. A limited number of students will have the opportunity to work intimately with leading experimental theatre groups in a two-year program designed for students who have completed two years of foundation work with one of the three professional studios associated with our Department: Stella Adler Conservatory of Acting, Circle in the Square Theatre School, and The Lee Strasberg Theatre Institute. The ETW is also open to students who have studied acting elsewhere and who wish to transfer into our Department. Students in the ETW will work in unique acting, voice and movement workshops taught from the point of view of members from each of the following experimental theatre groups: The Performance Group (best known for explorations of audience participation and environmental theatre), The Ridiculous Theatrical Company (specializing in Commedia dell'arte), Mabou Mines (known for conceptual adaptations of Beckett and experiments with new music and movement), Chi-Kanji and original members of the Open Theater—each known for uniquely experimental approaches to ensemble acting. In addition to studying with the groups, students will be expected to take dramatic literature, theatre history (including studies in the avant-garde), and performance theory courses offered through the Department. The program also includes summer workshops with the Iowa Theater Lab and the Bread and Puppet Theater.

Since the nature of the groups involves frequent international tours, the order and availability of the groups varies each semester. For each year's schedule and further information contact:

TOMASZEWSKI'S MIME THEATRE

Text by Andrzej Hausbrandt. Graphic layout by Józef Wilkon. The founder/director of the award-winning Polish Mime Theatre, Henryk Tomaszewski, an actor who turned to dance, combines the best of both forms in his experimental mime dramas. Every element—movement, gesture, facial expression, lights, music, costuming and make-up—is geared toward creating an intense sensory impact on the audience. Tomaszewski's Mime Theatre presents a stunning portrait of the troupe: its history, its fascinating artistic philosophy, and its most exciting productions. 176 pp., 144 photographs, incl. 39 in full color. Cloth. $12.50

"... Tomaszewski's new theatre form, the Polish Mime Ballet Theatre, is renowned as one of the most exciting and sensual of theatrical arts."

Peter Buckley, After Dark

REGIONAL THEATRE The Revolutionary Stage

by Joseph Wesley Zeigler. Foreword by Alan Schneider. The regional theatre movement has radically affected the contemporary stage. Joseph Zeigler traces its origins and development beginning with Margo Jones in Dallas, and including Houston's Alley Theatre, the Guthrie Theatre, Ontario's Stratford Shakespearean Festival, the Actor's Workshops East and West, the Arena Stage, the Mark Taper Forum, Lincoln Center's Repertory Theatre, the Hartford Stage Company, and the APA-Phoenix and other attempts at a national theatre. In addition, an in-depth examination of regional theatre's fundamental causes, inner reasonings, and interconnections with American life and values—including the issue of funding—makes Regional Theatre the book on its subject. 297 pp., 16 pp. photographs. Paperback. $5.95

DRAMATIC TECHNIQUE

by George Pierce Baker. New introduction by Harold Clurman. George Pierce Baker (1866-1935) was a legendary American theatre figure, whose students included Eugene O'Neill, Sidney Howard, George Abbott and Heywood Brown. In Dramatic Technique, originally delivered as a series of lectures in 1919, the author examines the essentials of plot construction, characterization and dialogue. For many years the standard text for playwrights, Dramatic Technique is now available to a new generation of theatre students and professionals. 538 pp., Paperback. $4.95

"Even now, everyone associated with the theatre—playwright, director, actor, critic and buff—has much to gather from Pierce Baker's Dramatic Technique. It is, in a word, a classic."

A New Development in M.A. and Ph.D. programs

New York University's graduate Drama Department has always been interested in new developments in performance. Now we are in the process of broadening the range of departmental offerings in order to keep abreast of current thinking about performance in developing areas of scholarship, to emphasize particular strengths and specializations of our faculty, and to relate to a wider range of employment opportunities.

The new program, for both the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees, intends to offer courses in six areas, some of them unusual or unique:

ARCHIVES AND RESEARCH CONTEMPORARY PERFORMANCE
DANCE
PERFORMANCE THEORY
PERFORMANCE WRITING AND ANALYSIS
POPULAR PERFORMANCE

- Archives and Research will include course work and practical training, work that is now being done, in part, at the Shubert Archives under a grant from the Shubert Foundation.
- Contemporary Performance will focus on avant-garde, experimental, and alternative theatre. A course in Paratheatre will be offered in Fall 77.
- Dance will cover both theatrical and non-theatrical forms.
- Performance Theory will emphasize the relationship of theatre to thinking in anthropology, ethnology, linguistics, psychology, etc. and in the other arts.
- Performance Writing will be concerned with journalistic and popular writing about theatre. The course in Semiotics of Performance, offered in Fall 77, is representative of the work in Analysis.
- Popular Performance reinforces the non-literary orientation of the department and deals, in the Fall 77 term, with such topics as Festival and Folk theatre and the Commedia dell'Arte and Its Influence.

The faculty of the graduate Drama Department for 77-78 will include:

Theodore Hoffman
Françoise Kourilsky (adjunct professor)
Michael Kirby (on sabbatical leave)
Brooks McNamara (acting chairman)
Richard Schechner
