Political Science Research and Methods

THE JOURNAL OF THE EUROPEAN POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION

Political Science Research and Methods (PSRM) is a general political science journal dedicated to publishing original scholarly work of the highest quality from all subfields of political science.

PSRM seeks research that applies rigorous methods to empirical or theoretical problems and promotes a rigorous scientific approach to the study of politics. Work at the intersection of political science and related disciplines such as economics and sociology is also welcomed.

World Politics

Published for the
Princeton Institute for International and Regional Affairs

Chair of the Editorial Board

Deborah Yashar, Princeton University, USA

World Politics, founded in 1948, is an internationally renowned quarterly journal of political science produced under the editorial sponsorship of the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies at Princeton University. The journal is published in both print and online versions. Open to contributions by all scholars, World Politics invites submission of research articles that make theoretical and empirical contributions to the literature, review articles, and research notes bearing on problems in international relations and comparative politics. The journal does not publish articles on current affairs, policy pieces, or narratives of a journalistic nature. Articles submitted for consideration are unsolicited, except for review articles, which are usually commissioned.

A Prize In Political Science

The Brian Barry Prize

Since 2014, in partnership with Cambridge University Press and the British Journal of Political Science (BJPoS) the British Academy has awarded a prize in honour of Brian Barry, a distinguished Fellow of the Academy and founding editor of the journal.

Brian Barry was a distinguished moral and political philosopher whose work fruitfully combined analytic philosophy and political science, political theory and social choice theory. The prize is awarded annually for excellence in political science, as displayed in an essay submitted for the prize that has not been previously published and is not under consideration for publication elsewhere. The essay can address any topic in political science, as covered by BJPoS, but essays in fields related to the work of Brian Barry are especially welcome.

Essays may be submitted by anyone in possession of a first degree. Entries should be 8,000 to 10,000 words, with an abstract of no more than 100 words.

Entries may be submitted at any time, but to be eligible for the current Prize, please enquire.

Entries should be submitted electronically to submission.barryprize@cambridge.org. They should be in accordance with the journal's style sheet available on the journal homepage.

The Prize will be awarded by the Events and Prizes Committee of the British Academy, on the advice of a Prize Committee especially appointed to assess entries for the Brian Barry Prize.

The Prize, valued at £2,500 is usually awarded at a ceremony at the British Academy. Winning entries will be published in the British Journal of Political Science, possibly after revisions.

Further enquiries should be directed to enquiries.barryprize@cambridge.org

The BJPoS homepage can be found here: journals.cambridge.org/bjpol
