Editorial Comment

In Transition. Owing to the sizeable backlog of accepted, but unpublished articles, there is a transition period in which the affairs of the Review, while not exactly in limbo, are conducted in two locations. Charles O. Jones, Managing Editor Elect, since January 1 of this year has been responsible for the evaluation of all new manuscripts, and for the contents of all issues starting with the issue of December, 1977. The orderly publication of all issues until then remains the responsibility of the current Managing Editor. Both new and old managing editors attend meetings of the Council of the Association, but only the current incumbent votes. Persons having business with the Review can address either editor, and he will pass the buck or pocket it, or refund it, as circumstances appear to dictate. New management and old alike guarantee a square deal all around, the customer always right our usual 12.5 per cent of the time.

A New Broom (continued). Starting with the issue of December, 1977, at the same time Charles O. Jones becomes Managing Editor, the Book Review section of the Review will change management as well. Paul Allen Beck and Robert S. Walters, both Associate Professors of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh, will become Book Review Editors, succeeding Philip Siegelman. Effective immediately, all books for review should be sent to Professors Beck and Walters at the Department of Political Science, University of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15260.

Professor Beck has written articles on partisan realignment and political socialization, and Professor Walters, with David Blake, has just completed a book entitled The Politics of International Economic Relations. They intend to create an Advisory Panel which will be asked to assist them in selecting books for review and identifying subjects for review essays.
