

World Congress of Cognitive Therapy

Oxford, 28 June - 2 July, 1989

The 1989 World Congress of Cognitive Therapy will focus on developments of interest to both practitioners and researchers. It will provide an ideal opportunity to present research and innovations in therapy to an international audience. There will be addresses by leading figures in the field. Symposia, open paper sessions, posters and practical workshops will cover a wide range of topics:

- Innovative approaches to therapy
- Current status of theory and practice
- Recent theoretical formulations
- Role of cognitive factors in emotional and medical problems
- Cognitive processes in clinical and non-clinical populations

The committee includes:

Aaron T Beck

Ivy Blackburn

Stanley Rachman

J Mark Williams

Antony D Kidman

Michael Gelder

Steve Hollon

Brian Shaw

Jeffrey Young

David Clark

Donald Meichenbaum

John Teasdale

Gary Emery

There will be an extensive social program and a number of visits to places of interest in and around Oxford, the oldest University in Britain.

Proposals for Symposia, Open Papers and Poster Sessions are invited by 30 June 1988.

Outline proposals (including a 200 word abstract) should be sent to:—
World Congress of Cognitive Therapy, Department of Psychiatry, University of Oxford, Warneford Hospital, Oxford OX3 7JX, U.K.

For further information, contact:— Dr A.D. Kidman (committee member), Neurobiology Unit, University of Technology — Sydney, Westbourne Street,
Gore Hill, NSW 2065. Telephone (02) 436 6238.