

Boxes

2.1	Methods of the overview of reviews	page 40
4.1	Overview of the evidence on skill-mix innovations for health promotion and prevention	85
4.2	Pharmacists' support of novice users of medicines	110
4.3	Introducing diabetes screening in the pharmacy	111
5.1	Overview of the evidence on skill-mix innovations in acute care patients	119
5.2	Hospital-at-home to avoid readmission	139
5.3	The netCare Project : Swiss community pharmacists providing triage to patients with minor acute conditions	142
5.4	The MINA Programme	143
6.1	Overview of the evidence	154
6.2	Major skill-mix innovations in the care for patients with chronic conditions and multimorbidity	155
6.3	Skill-mix interventions involving pharmacists	156
6.4	Skill-mix interventions involving nurses	163
6.5	Skill mix interventions involving professions other than pharmacists and nurses	176
6.6	Skill-mix interventions involving multiprofessional teams	184
6.7	Nurse prescribers in Finland take care of the routine management of patients with specific chronic conditions	200
6.8	Expanding professional roles of pharmacists in Portugal	202
6.9	Collaborative care models in mental health care in the United Kingdom, Ireland and Belgium	205
6.10	New nursing roles in integrated case management of patients with complex needs in Valencia, Spain	206
7.1	Overview of the evidence on long-term and palliative care	223
7.2	Home care assistants – Geronto service in Serbia	245
7.3	The district nurse (the Netherlands)	247

7.4	The case of case managers in primary palliative care in the Netherlands	249
7.5	Specialized ambulatory palliative care in Germany (SAPV)	251
7.6	WHO collaboration for strengthening of palliative care education of all health care professionals (2016–2020)	253
8.1	Definitions: populations living in rural and remote areas and disadvantaged groups	263
8.2	Overview of the evidence	264
8.3	Definition of community health workers	266
8.4	Examples of skill-mix innovations and new technologies/eHealth	278
8.5	Delivering on social accountability: Canada’s Northern Ontario School of Medicine (Strasser, 2016)	280
8.6	Community Health Centre Botermarkt – Ledeborg in Ghent (Belgium)	284
9.1	Competency-based curricula in the Netherlands	303
9.2	Continuing professional development in health professions in France	307
10.1	Reforms on nonmedical prescribing with implications on health systems	337
11.1	Skill-mix in primary care services in Portugal: barriers to change and potential facilitators	357
11.2	The implementation of prescribing by nurse specialists in the Netherlands	360
11.3	Community specialist nurses in neurology in the United Kingdom	362
11.4	Health workforce change in Germany in the shadow of organizational reform	365