Studies in American Political Development is a semi-annual periodical which publishes theoretical and empirical research on political development and institutional change in the United States. A diversity of subject matters and methodologies is invited, including comparative or international studies that illuminate the American case. Manuscripts of up to 75 pages in length, excluding footnotes, will be considered. There is a “Notes” section for shorter presentation of research perspectives and findings. Also welcomed are review essays on bibliographies of unusual interest, and comments on previously published articles. This Journal is published by the Cambridge Journals Online service. Online availability is as follows. Institutional subscribers: Access to full-text articles is currently included with the cost of the print subscription. Subscriptions must be activated see http://www.journals.cambridge.org for details. Individual subscribers: Access to online tables of contents and abstracts is available at no additional cost.

Studies in American Political Development is indexed in Social Science Citation Index, Sociological Abstracts, and International Political Science Abstracts. Authors should upload their manuscripts (double spaced) to the SAPD online submission system at http://www.editorialmanager.com/SAPD. Please note that SAPD will no longer accept manuscript submissions by regular mail. Editorial correspondence should be directed to sapd@bspace.berkeley.edu.

Originality and copyright: The publisher reserves the right to copyedit and proofread all articles accepted for publication, with certain specified rights reserved by the author, must be signed and returned to the Editor by senior authors of accepted manuscripts, prior to publication.

Preparation of manuscript: A separate title page should be prepared including the full article title, short title for use as a running head, author’s full name and affiliation, and complete contact information (including phone number and e-mail address). Manuscripts should conform to Chicago style (see below for examples concerning preparation of reference and note material). The entire manuscript (including notes and references) should be typed double-spaced, with at least 1 inch wide margins for copying and mailing. The manuscript should be submitted with elements arranged in the following order: (1) title page, (2) article text, (3) endnotes, (4) bibliography (optional), (5) appendices/tables, and (6) figures, placement of tables or figures should be cited in the text. The publisher will be responsible for placing artwork, tables or figures, as well as converting endnotes to footnotes.

Figures: Appendices, tables, and figures should be numbered consecutively throughout the article and should be included on separate pages appearing after the reference section. Table and figure images should also be uploaded as separate files. Figures should be ready for photographic reduction; they cannot be redrawn by the publisher. Charts, graphs, or other artworks should be professionally rendered, or computer generated.

References and notes: References and notes should conform to the examples given here. For other cases, please refer to The Chicago Manual of Style. Author’s acknowledgments or other personal notes will appear as an unnumbered note at the foot of the title note. Notes should be double-spaced and placed at the end of the essay, not at the foot of the page. Notes should be numbered consecutively throughout the article. Numbered notes should appear at the end of the sentence. If multiple texts are cited in a sentence they should appear as one consolidated note at the end of the sentence. Examples of correct styling for references are as follows:

Congressional Records: Congressional Record, 78th Congress, 1st Session, 1943, 89, 3535.

State and party abbreviations: Sen. Ted Kennedy (D-MA); Rep. Charles Rangel (D-NY)

Citation of periodicals: The publisher will be responsible for typesetting. Page proofs of an article will be sent to the lead author for correction of typographical errors only. Authors must notify the editorial office of any changes within 48 hours or approval will be assumed.

Court cases: United States v. Patterson, 55 F. 605 (1893).
