The Department of Finance at the University of Utah expects to have a position for at least one new faculty member beginning in the 1984-1985 academic year. First priority would be given to hiring at the Assistant Professor level, although consideration also may be given to qualified individuals at senior ranks. A tenure track appointment such as this does require a Ph.D. or DBA in hand or close to completion. A Ph.D. in Economics also would be considered.

Specialty area backgrounds are subordinate in emphasis to the overall strength of the applicant. A strong interest in scholarly research, as well as a commitment to solid classroom performance, are prerequisites to this appointment. The Department will have representatives at both the FMA and the AFA meetings. The University of Utah is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. Interested individuals should send a complete resume including a description of the dissertation or dissertation proposal to:

Professor James A. Brickley
Department of Finance
Graduate School of Business
University of Utah
Salt Lake City, UT 84112

Applications will be accepted until March 1, 1984.

Positions in Finance
University of Washington

One or more positions in Finance may be available beginning in the 1984-1985 academic year. We are looking for a person with the capability and desire to engage in original research in business finance, investments, international finance, or financial institutions, and with excellent teaching abilities. A strong background in economics and in quantitative methods or econometrics is required. We are primarily looking for Assistant Professors; however, there is a possibility of hiring at the Associate or Full Professor level if the individual is exceptional. Visiting positions are also likely to be available.

The University of Washington offers an excellent environment for younger faculty. We have a very strong research-oriented faculty who can provide stimulation and encouragement to individuals who are just establishing their careers. In addition, our close ties with the Economics and Accounting Departments offer faculty members rewarding opportunities for interdisciplinary research projects.

As an equal opportunity employer, the Finance Department is especially interested in making the availability of this position known to minorities and women. Candidates should send a cover letter indicating research and teaching interests, a vita, a summary of courses taken, the names of four references, and any available examples of recent research to:

Professor Peter A. Frost, Chairman
Department of Finance, Business Economics and Quantitative Methods
School of Business Administration DJ-10
University of Washington
