AUSTRIAN HISTORY YEARBOOK
Published Annually

Editorial Advisory Committees

The United States Committee to promote Studies of the History of the Habsburg Monarchy: Hans Kohn (chairman), College of the City of New York—Charles Jelavich, Indiana University—Robert A. Kann, Rutgers University—Arthur J. May, University of Rochester—S. Harrison Thomson, University of Colorado

The following members of the Austrian Committee for the History of the Austro-Hungarian Monarchy: Friedrich Engel-Janosi, University of Vienna—Hugo Hantsch, University of Vienna—Fritz Fellner, University of Salzburg

Staff

R. John Rath, Rice University, Editor
Keith Hitchins, Rice University, Associate Editor
Kay Knobloch, Rice University, Assistant Editor
Helmut Rumpler, University of Vienna, Assistant Editor
Judith Sims, Rice University, Editorial Assistant
Annabelle Haraway, Rice University, Business Manager
Mary Ann Anzelmo, Reinhart Kondert, Jerry Pyle, Rice University, Student Assistants

The publication of the Austrian History Yearbook has been made possible by a subvention from Rice University.

The price for this volume, which is printed in three separate parts, is $15.00. Checks should be made payable to the Austrian History Yearbook. Manuscripts, books for review, bibliographical information, news items, and correspondence concerning subscriptions should be sent to the editor, Austrian History Yearbook, Rice University, Houston, Texas 77001.

© 1967 by Rice University
The Nationality Problem in the Habsburg Monarchy in the Nineteenth Century: a Critical Appraisal

Part I

Centripetal Forces
Nationalism as a Disintegrating Force
The Ruling Nationalities
This volume of the Austrian History Yearbook is dedicated to

Hans Kohn, Arthur J. May, and S. Harrison Thomson, three distinguished pioneer American scholars of Habsburg history who have, through their scholarship and leadership, inspired so many others to devote themselves to a study of the field.
The Habsburg Monarchy on the Eve of the First World War
Preface

Published in this issue of the Yearbook are the papers and comments prepared for an international conference on "The Nationality Problem in the Nineteenth Century Habsburg Monarchy: a Critical Reappraisal," which was held at Indiana University on April 2-6, 1966 (see post, pp. 4-7). Although, due to unfortunate circumstances, no report on the Italian nationality problem was actually presented at the conference, we expect to publish an essay on this topic in this issue. The various points of view expressed from the floor at the different sessions of the conference will be summarized in a concluding article by Miss Knobloch and the editor.

In order to make this study of the nationality problem in the nineteenth century Habsburg monarchy as comprehensive as possible, we are, moreover, including articles dealing with the relationship between the nationality question and the following topics which were not discussed at the Indiana University conference: the Habsburg army, by Gunther E. Rothenberg, of the University of New Mexico; foreign policy, by Enno E. Kraehe, of the University of North Carolina, and Solomon Wank, of Franklin and Marshall College; and economic factors, by György Ránki and Iván T. Berend, of the Historical Institute of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences. Furthermore, an essay dealing with the influence of education on the nationality problem will be published in Vol. IV (1968). It will be written by Walter Goldinger, director of the Verwaltungsarchiv in Vienna.

Vol. III will be published in three separately bound parts. Part 1 will deal with some of the overall integrating and disintegrating forces in the monarchy and the dominant nationalities in the empire. The second part will be devoted to the Slavic, Italian, and Rumanian nationalities; while the last one will contain the articles on religion, foreign policy, economic factors, the collapse of the monarchy, and the status of Habsburg studies in the United States and Europe. There will also be a book review section in Part 3, but there will be no bibliographical listings or news items. Bibliographical listings and news items for the years 1965-67 will be included in Vol. IV.

Such a topical arrangement makes it necessary to publish parts of unequal length. It is estimated that Part 2 will be approximately twice as large as the first part and that Part 3 will be about one-third longer than Part 1. The editors, however, believe that such a topical division will make the third issue much more useful to the reader.

R. J. R.
TABLE OF CONTENTS

THE CONFERENCE,
by Charles Jelavich and R. John Rath . . . . 1

Centripetal Forces

THE DYNASTY AND THE IMPERIAL IDEA,
by Robert A. Kann . . . . . . . . . . . . 11

ECONOMICS, CONSTITUTIONALISM, ADMINISTRATIVE AND CLASS STRUCTURE,
by William A. Jenks . . . . . . . . . . . . 32

COMMENTS, by György Ránki . . . . . . . . 62

THE HABSBURG ARMY,
by Gunther Rothenberg . . . . . . . . . . . . 70

Nationalism as a Disintegrating Force

THE RISE OF NATIONALISM, by Peter F. Sugar . 91

THE POLITICAL-GEOGRAPHIC BASES OF THE AUSTRIAN NATIONALITY PROBLEM,
by George W. Hoffman . . . . . . . . . . . . 121

COMMENTS, by Jiří Kořalka . . . . . . . . 147

The Ruling Nationalities

THE GERMANS AS AN INTEGRATIVE FORCE IN IMPERIAL AUSTRIA: THE DILEMMA OF DOMINANCE, by Andrew G. Whiteside . . . . 157

THE GERMANS AS AN INTEGRATING AND DIS-INTEGRATING FORCE, by Erich Zöllner . . . . 201

HUNGARY: THE UNCOMPROMISING COMPROMISE, by George Barany . . . . . 234

HUNGARY IN THE AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN MONARCHY, by Péter Hanák . . . . . 260

COMMENTS, by Istvan Deak . . . . . . . . 303