Contributions are welcomed from all countries. They should be written in English.

Manuscripts of articles should be submitted online to Language in Society at Manuscript Central: http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/langsoc. Instructions for submission are available on the Manuscript Central site. Authors of articles and reviews accepted for publication will be required to submit final manuscripts in formats and file types specified by Cambridge University Press. Contributions should be double spaced in 12-point font. Figures should be ready for photographic reproduction: labels and details should be clear and large enough to remain legible after a 50% reduction. The first page should include the title, author’s name, affiliation, full postal mailing address, and email address, along with an abstract of the article. The abstract must be no more than 150 words. Keywords should be listed at the end of the abstract.

Titles should be worded so that the first part may be used as a running head (with a maximum length of 50 characters, including spaces).

Citations and forms of emphasis. Normally the Latin alphabet is to be used. Cited forms should be italicized or underlined to represent italization in print. Translation meanings (glosses) should be placed within single quotation marks. Use small capitals to indicate emphasis.

References are to be made in the text by giving in parentheses the name of the author, year of publication, and all other information that is relevant. The style used is the one adopted by the Philosophical Transactions of the Royal Society. The style used for references to books, journal articles, and other published works is the one adopted by the American Psychological Association. The style used for references to unpublished works is the one adopted by the Modern Language Association of America. The style used for references to lectures, papers, and other unpublished works is the one adopted by the Modern Language Association of America.

Proofs. First proof will be sent to the lead author (or one of the co-authors), who will be expected to return corrections to the Editor by air, fax, or e-mail within three days of receipt.

Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published or is not being considered for publication elsewhere. If an author is publishing a related article elsewhere, this fact should be stated.

Copyright. Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyrights, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the USA.
