Transitional Justice and the Prosecution of Political Leaders in the Arab Region

A Comparative Study of Egypt, Libya, Tunisia and Yemen
Noha Aboueldahab

The dramatic uprisings that ousted the long-standing leaders of several countries in the Arab region set in motion an unprecedented period of social, political and legal transformation. The prosecution of political leaders took centre stage in the pursuit of transitional justice following the 'Arab Spring'. Through a comparative case study of Egypt, Libya, Tunisia and Yemen, this book argues that transitional justice in the Arab region presents the strongest challenge yet to the transitional justice paradigm. This paradigm is built on the underlying assumption that transitions constitute a shift from non-liberal to liberal democratic regimes, where often legal measures are taken to address atrocities committed during the prior regime.

The Rule of Law, Freedom of Expression and Islamic Law Hossein Esmaeili, Irmgard Marboe and Javaid Rehman

The importance of the rule of law is universally recognised and of fundamental value for most societies. Establishing and promoting the rule of law in the Muslim world, particularly in the Middle East, North Africa, and Central Asia, has become a pressing but complicated issue. One important aspect of the rule of law is freedom of expression. This book, drawing on both International and Islamic Law, explores the rule of law, and freedom of expression and its practical application in the Muslim world.

The European Union and International Dispute Settlement

Edited by Marise Cremona, Anne Thies and Ramses A Wessel

This book explores the connections between the European Union and international dispute settlement. It highlights the legal challenges faced by the principal players in the field: namely the EU as a political actor and the Court of Justice of the EU as an international and domestic judiciary. In addition, it places the subject in its broader context of international dispute settlement, and the participation of the EU and its Member States in international disputes. It focuses on horizontal and cross-cutting themes, bringing together insights from the different sectors of trade, investment and human rights, and offering a variety of perspectives from academics, policymakers and practitioners.

The China-Australia Free Trade Agreement

A 21st-Century Model
Edited by Colin Picker, Heng Wang and Weihuan Zhou

This book provides readers with a unique opportunity to learn about one of the new regional trade agreements (RTAs), the China-Australia Free Trade Agreement (ChAFTA), that has been operational since December 2015 and is now at the forefront of the field. This new agreement reflects many of the modern and up-to-date approaches within the international economic legal order that must now exist within a very different environment than that of the late eighties and early nineties, when the World Trade Organization (WTO) was created. The book, therefore, explores many new features that were not present when the WTO or early RTAs were negotiated. It provides insights and lessons about new and important trade issues for the twenty-first century.

BIICL PARTNERSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

The demand for our work in a constantly changing world is growing and is limited only by our resources. We rely heavily on funding from law firms, corporations, international bodies, foundations, individuals and others. By supporting our work, donors and funders have an opportunity to make a positive and lasting difference around the world whilst raising their profile with our global network of legal practitioners, academics, in-house counsel, government officials, NGOs and students.

BIICL Fund: Shaping our Future

This Fund provides an opportunity for members and friends to make unrestricted donations, enabling us to expand our team, refurbish our premises and promote our work to a wider audience. It also gives us the flexibility to respond more quickly to global events and to embark on projects or recruitment without waiting for funding.

The Bingham Appeal

The Bingham Centre for the Rule of Law was launched in 2010 for the promotion and enhancement of the rule of law worldwide. We are aiming to raise £5million by 2020 to fund the Centre's growing network of talented research fellows and portfolio of applied research projects.

The Arthur Watts Appeal

The Arthur Watts Senior Research Fellowship in Public International Law was founded in memory of the late Sir Arthur Watts, one of the leading international lawyers of his generation. The establishment of the Fellowship has been made possible by the generosity of numerous benefactors.

If you would like to discuss how you or your organisation can support our work please email Sarah Taylor, Development Director: s.taylor@biicl.org

Funding Research Fellowships

We are very grateful to the Vivmar Foundation, the Dorset Foundation and to Herbert Smith Freehills LLP for their support for Senior Research Fellowships. We are currently seeking funding for further research fellowships in different areas of legal research and practice.

Research Projects

Our core funders may also choose to support a specific research project in an area of interest to them. This could be any subject which has an international and comparative law or rule of law focus and can be global, regional or sector specific.

Volunteer programmes

BIICL is fortunate to have the assistance of high quality research volunteers from all over the world, and is seeking funding to support this areas of BIICL's work.

Events and Sponsorship

BIICL runs a dynamic and topical programme of events including conferences, lectures, dinners and seminars in the UK and overseas. These events attract high profile speakers and senior audiences of practitioners and academics. Sponsorship offers branding and speaking opportunities.

BIICL ACTIVITIES

Research

BIICL conducts research around the world across the broad range of public international law, private international law, comparative law and the rule of law. This includes areas such as competition law, European law, human rights law, international investment law, and product liability law. Our research often crosses traditional boundaries of law, so as to integrate private and public international law, and engages with national, European and comparative law.

Our research is primarily applied research, based on strong knowledge foundations. This enables our research to have practical consequences, establish influential recommendations for decision-makers, and have an impact on law and policy around the world.

Events

BIICL organises an exciting and diverse programme of events throughout the year. These bring leading speakers and participants from law firms, barristers' chambers, corporations, government, non-governmental organisations, regulatory bodies, international organisations, academia, students and many others.

Our events deal with the many important contemporary international legal issues and developments. They include evening seminars and full-day conferences, open debates and confidential discussions. Events are generally open to all members and the public, and most events are CPD accredited for practitioners.

Forums

The Institute enhances its research activities through three specialist forums: The Investment Treaty Forum, The Competition Law Forum, and The Product Liability Forum.

These invitation only discussion and working groups bring together senior experts to share experiences and exchange opinions, contribute to policy initiatives, and promote research in these important areas of law and practice.

Training and Development

The provision of specific and general training on international and comparative legal matters is another of our important activities. These activities range from short courses on specific topics within the UK, to capacity building in developing states. We offer high level expertise and practical experience, including from our network of practitioners and scholars, to enable an effective and engaging training programme.

Publications

Beyond ICLQ, BIICL publishes many of its major research projects, some of which are available free of charge, and other papers on contemporary legal issues. It also publishes a regular Newsletter.

Publication information and newsletters are available at www.biicl.org/publications.

The Bingham Centre for the Rule of Law

The Bingham Centre was launched in 2010. It is named after The Rt Hon Lord Bingham of Cornhill KG who promoted the maintenance and development of the rule of law. The Centre is devoted to the study and promotion of the rule of law worldwide, defining and implementing the rule of law as a universal and practical concept that upholds respect for human dignity and enhances economic development and political stability.

BIICL ALUMNI NETWORK

The BIICL Alumni Network enables all those who have spent time working at BIICL over its long history to reconnect with colleagues and keep up to date with BIICL news.

Whether your connection to BIICL was as a research fellow, staff member, volunteer or intern, by joining the Alumni Network, you can attend events, participate in online discussions, reach business and academic contacts and share accomplishments.

INTERNATIONAL & COMPARATIVE LAW QUARTERLY

VOLUME 66

PART 4

OCTOBER 2017

When founded in 1952, the International and Comparative Law Quarterly was the only journal which offered the reader coverage of comparative law as well as public and private international law as well as European Union law. Since then it has maintained its pre-eminence amongst journals of its kind and it continues to offer practitioners and academics wide topical coverage without compromising rigorous editorial standards.

Membership of the British Institute of International and Comparative Law brings with it a subscription to the International and Comparative Law Quarterly, or it is available as a personal annual subscription from the distributor Cambridge University Press.
