Financial History Review

Contents

Articles
Christopher Kobrak and Michael Troege
From Basel to bailouts: forty years of international attempts to bolster bank safety 133
Géraldine David and Kim Oosterlinck
War, monetary reforms and the Belgian art market, 1945–1951 157
Richard A. Kleer
‘A new species of mony’: British Exchequer bills, 1701–1711 179
Arthur J. Wilson and Geetae Kim
Put-call parity, the triple contract, and approaches to usury in medieval contracting 205
Charles A. E. Goodhart
Competition and credit control: some personal reflections 235

Book reviews
Peter Borscheid and Niels Viggo Haueter (eds.), World Insurance: The Evolution of a Global Risk Network (reviewer: Adrian Leonard) 247
Alessandro Roselli, Money and Trade Wars in Interwar Europe (reviewer: Piet Clement) 249
South-Eastern European Monetary and Economic Statistics from the Nineteenth Century to World War II (reviewer: Ivo Maes) 252
Hans van Wees, Ships, Silver, Taxes and Tribute: A Fiscal History of Archaic Athens (reviewer: Mark Peacock) 255
Financial History Review

EDITORIAL ADVISORY PANEL

O. Accomont, London School of Economics and Political Science
C. Barber, University of Vienna
Y. Caus, European University Institute
B. Eichengreen, University of California, Berkeley
M. Mandleker, Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies, Geneva
P. Cahter, Paris School of Economics
H. James, Princeton University
A. Kimura, University of Tokyo
C. Menornt, University of California, Davis
K. Mutchener, University of Hertfordshire
A. Manusho, Harvard Business School
L. Neal, University of Illinois

SUBSCRIPTIONS

Financial History Review (ISSN 0968-5650) is published quarterly in March, June, September and December. The journal is available in electronic and print versions (at no extra cost) to subscribers of Cambridge Core. Subscribers also have the benefit of unlimited online access to the journal, as well as early access to new content. The electronic-only price is $122.00 per annum for individuals and $224.00 for institutions. This price includes delivery by air. In Japan, prices for institutions are available from Waseda University. Prices include delivery by air. For all other use of material from the journal permission should be sought from Cambridge or the copyright holder. Authors whose native language is not English are especially encouraged to send their manuscripts to a professional native translator for a preliminary revision prior to submission.

COPYING

Information on Copyright Licensing Agency can also copy material subject to the usual conditions. For all other use of material from the journal permission should be sought from Cambridge or the American Branch of Cambridge University Press. This journal issue has been published on FSC-certified paper and cover board. FSC is an independent, non-governmental, non-profit organization established to promote the responsible management of the world’s forests. Please see www.fsc.org for information.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Editorial policy

Financial History Review, published by Cambridge University Press on behalf of the European Association for Banking and Financial History, is an interdisciplinary journal that invites submissions, in print or electronic format, on banking and financial history in general, with a particular focus on the pre-modern period, colonial history, early modern period, eighteenth and nineteenth century, and the 1920s and 1930s. It covers a wide range of topics, including the role of banking and financial institutions in economic development, interstate relations, business cycles, and banking crises. The journal seeks to provide a platform for the exchange of ideas and research on banking and financial history, with a focus on the pre-modern period and early modern period.

Submissions

Authors are encouraged to submit their work to the Financial History Review, either in print or electronic format. The journal welcomes submissions on banking and financial history in general, with a particular focus on the pre-modern period, colonial history, early modern period, eighteenth and nineteenth century, and the 1920s and 1930s. It covers a wide range of topics, including the role of banking and financial institutions in economic development, interstate relations, business cycles, and banking crises. The journal seeks to provide a platform for the exchange of ideas and research on banking and financial history, with a focus on the pre-modern period and early modern period.

Submissions should be sent to the editorial office of the journal at the address below.

Information on Copyright Licensing Agency can also copy material subject to the usual conditions. For all other use of material from the journal permission should be sought from Cambridge or the copyright holder. Authors whose native language is not English are especially encouraged to send their manuscripts to a professional native translator for a preliminary revision prior to submission.

COPYING

Information on Copyright Licensing Agency can also copy material subject to the usual conditions. For all other use of material from the journal permission should be sought from Cambridge or the American Branch of Cambridge University Press. This journal issue has been published on FSC-certified paper and cover board. FSC is an independent, non-governmental, non-profit organization established to promote the responsible management of the world’s forests. Please see www.fsc.org for information.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Editorial policy

Financial History Review, published by Cambridge University Press on behalf of the European Association for Banking and Financial History, is an interdisciplinary journal that invites submissions, in print or electronic format, on banking and financial history in general, with a particular focus on the pre-modern period, colonial history, early modern period, eighteenth and nineteenth century, and the 1920s and 1930s. It covers a wide range of topics, including the role of banking and financial institutions in economic development, interstate relations, business cycles, and banking crises. The journal seeks to provide a platform for the exchange of ideas and research on banking and financial history, with a focus on the pre-modern period and early modern period.

Submissions

Authors are encouraged to submit their work to the Financial History Review, either in print or electronic format. The journal welcomes submissions on banking and financial history in general, with a particular focus on the pre-modern period, colonial history, early modern period, eighteenth and nineteenth century, and the 1920s and 1930s. It covers a wide range of topics, including the role of banking and financial institutions in economic development, interstate relations, business cycles, and banking crises. The journal seeks to provide a platform for the exchange of ideas and research on banking and financial history, with a focus on the pre-modern period and early modern period.

Submissions should be sent to the editorial office of the journal at the address below.

Information on Copyright Licensing Agency can also copy material subject to the usual conditions. For all other use of material from the journal permission should be sought from Cambridge or the copyright holder. Authors whose native language is not English are especially encouraged to send their manuscripts to a professional native translator for a preliminary revision prior to submission.

COPYING

Information on Copyright Licensing Agency can also copy material subject to the usual conditions. For all other use of material from the journal permission should be sought from Cambridge or the American Branch of Cambridge University Press. This journal issue has been published on FSC-certified paper and cover board. FSC is an independent, non-governmental, non-profit organization established to promote the responsible management of the world’s forests. Please see www.fsc.org for information.
Contents

Articles

Christopher Kobrak and Michael Troege
From Basel to bailouts: forty years of international attempts to bolster bank safety

Géraldine David and Kim Oosterlinck
War, monetary reforms and the Belgian art market, 1945–1951

Richard A. Kleer
‘A new species of mony’: British Exchequer bills, 1701–1711

Arthur J. Wilson and Geetae Kim
Put-call parity, the triple contract, and approaches to usury in medieval contracting

Charles A. E. Goodhart
Competition and credit control: some personal reflections

Book reviews

Alessandro Roselli, Money and Trade Wars in Interwar Europe (reviewer: Piet Clement)

South-Eastern European Monetary and Economic Statistics from the Nineteenth Century to World War II (reviewer: Ivo Maes)