Eighteenth-Century Music addresses a conspicuous gap in its field and serves as a prestigious forum for all eighteenth-century music research. The aims of this dedicated journal are: to draw together disparate areas of research, challenge accepted historical assumptions and adopt a broad and interdisciplinary approach which will serve the whole eighteenth-century music community.

Nineteenth-Century Music Review aims to locate music within the widest possible framework of intellectual activity pertaining to the long nineteenth century (c.1789–1914). It particularly welcomes interdisciplinary scholarship that explores music within the context of other artistic and scientific discourses. Articles with fine visual or iconographic content are encouraged, as are those rich in musically illustrative material. Articles accepted for publication will reflect a diversity of critical viewpoints.

All material submitted for consideration will receive open-minded editorial attention, and works, once accepted for peer review, will proceed anonymously to at least two readers (one from the editorial board, the other external to it). Books and music will be reviewed extensively in each issue with the particular aim of extending awareness of music literature into extra-musical disciplines.

Notes for contributors

Editorial policy
Theatre Research International publishes articles on theatre practices in their social, cultural, and historical contexts, their relationship to other media of representation, and to other fields of inquiry. The journal seeks to reflect the evolving diversity of critical idioms prevalent in the scholarship of differing world contexts.

1. Submissions
Articles in English submitted for publication should be sent to the Senior Editor, Professor Charlotte Canning. Submission by email is preferred and the Editor should be contacted at editor.tri@cambridge.org.

2. Manuscript preparation
The recommended length for articles is 4000–7000 words (inclusive of notes). An electronic copy of the manuscript in Word should be submitted to the above email address. The author’s name, address, email address, and title of manuscript should appear on a cover sheet. An abstract of no more than 150 words should also be included as well as a brief biography.

3. Book reviews:
Publishers and Reviewers should approach the nearest Review Editor. Email information and areas of responsibility are listed on the Inside Front Cover.

4. Text Conventions
1. Articles must be typed and double-spaced throughout. Quotations and Notes are also double-spaced. Do not exceed 35 lines per page, nor 70 characters per line.
2. Leave margins of 1” (25mm) at right, top and bottom, and a larger margin of 1.12” (40mm) on left.
3. Italicize titles of books, newspapers, journals.
4. Titles of articles are given in single quotation marks.
5. Notes are indicated by raised Arabic numerals (without any other sign) at the end of the sentence, following any punctuation. Notes are numbered in sequence throughout the article.
6. Use English (Oxford) spelling for your own text, but give the original spelling in quotations (archaic, American...).
7. Write ‘...and...’ and ‘...and...’.
8. Do not forget to number your pages.
9. Notes/References: Make all references in endnotes according to the following conventions:
   - Journal article: Bert O. States, ‘Phenomenology of the Theatre’ in the C.C.C, of the per copy fee of $30.00. This consent does not extend to multiple copying for promotional or commercial purposes. Code 0972-8932/IS. Elsevier Science (s), Amsterdam 1980, USA, is authorised to supply single copies of separate articles for private use only. Organizations authorized by the Copyright Licensing Agency may also copy material subject to the usual conditions. For all other use, permission should be sought from Cambridge or from the American Branch of Cambridge University Press.
   - This journal is included in the Cambridge Journals and Failing Fulfillment, University Printing House, Shaftesbury Road, Cambridge CB2 8BS, UK; or in the USA, Canada and Mexico: Cambridge University Press, Journals Fulfillment Department, 100 Brook Hill Drive, West Nyack, New York 10994-2133.
