Winstanley the Digger

A Literary Analysis of Radical Ideas in the English Revolution

T. Wilson Hayes

Here is a complete literary analysis of the works of Gerrard Winstanley—the quintessential English Christian communist who founded the utopian Digger colony in Surrey, a radical attempt to till land in common and assert the rights of the rural poor. $16.50

Metropolitan Museum of Art

The Politics of Landscape

Rural Scenery and Society in English Poetry, 1630–1660

James G. Turner

Turner explores the contradictions, unspoken assumptions, and political implications of rural poems during the English Revolution and shows how they served to perpetuate social injustice. $14.50

The British Shipbuilding Industry, 1870–1914

Sidney Pollard and Paul Robertson

In this first modern history of the British shipbuilding industry between 1870 and 1914, authors examine activities and attitudes of the shipbuilders in the context of controversy over the quality of British entrepreneurship. They conclude that the level of managerial performance was high, and unlike other sectors of heavy industry, British shipbuilders maintained their dominant position. Harvard Studies in Business History, 30 $18.50

John Keats

Walter Jackson Bate

"Mr. Bate has written not only the best biography of Keats but the best criticism of his writings. The moment was ripe for a culminating book on Keats and the moment has found the man."—Geoffrey Tillotson Belknap $22.50 cloth; $8.95 paper

Now in Paper—

Reform and Reformation

England, 1509–1558

G.R. Elton

"Elton has transformed our understanding of English history... His achievement is very great."—New York Review of Books The New History of England $15.00 cloth; $6.95 paper

Harvard University Press • Cambridge, MA 02138

The Friends of Liberty

The English Democratic Movement in the Age of the French Revolution

Albert Goodwin

"Original, incisive and elegantly written, The Friends of Liberty puts English radicalism in a British and European setting. It is a major contribution to the debate about radicalism and reform in the age of the French Revolution."—John Brewer, Yale University $20.00

The Diehards

Aristocratic Society and Politics in Edwardian England

Gregory D. Phillips

Utilizing a wide range of public and private papers, Phillips gives us an economic, social, and political study of Edwardian England that alters our understanding of this crisis in British constitutional history. Harvard Historical Studies, 96 $18.50

George I, Elector and King

Ragnhild Hatton

In this first modern biography of George I, Hatton places him in a new perspective as a son, husband, and father; as an early Enlightenment ruler, and as a European figure. The book is firmly based on archival material previously unavailable to historians. $15.00

Jane Austen's Novels

Social Change and Literary Form

Julia Prewitt Brown

"A bracing, learned, logical penetration of Jane Austen's mind, the mind that took marriage, family, and society seriously and integrally. All of Austen's novels benefit from this fine (and well written) critical study."—Ellen Moers $10.00

English Chantries

The Road to Dissolution

Alan Kreider

Chantries played a greater role in the daily life of 16th century Englishmen than did monasteries. Kreider explains the social, religious, and numerical significance of the chantries, and expands our understanding of the late medieval Church and the English Reformation. Harvard Historical Studies, 97 $20.00

British Museum

From Memory to Written Record in England, 1066–1307

M.T. Clanchy

Modern literacy is a product of medieval experience. A fundamental change occurred in the 12th and 13th centuries when documents began to be used in quantities for the first time since the fall of the Roman Empire, and the first time ever in England. This is the history of the written word in the English Middle Ages. $18.50

THE JOURNAL OF BRITISH STUDIES
TRINITY COLLEGE
HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT

---

The Journal of British Studies, founded in 1961, is published at Trinity College under the auspices of the Conference on British Studies. It was the result of the imaginative generosity of a Trinity alumnus, Frederick E. Hasler (Hon. LL.D. 1957) who contributed funds to the College for the specific purpose of establishing a learned periodical in the field of British history. Several Trinity alumni subsequently contributed to the fund and Trinity College now supports the publication of the Journal.

The Conference on British Studies is the official organization in the United States and Canada of scholars working in the field of British history and culture; its status as such is recognized by the American Historical Association of which it is an affiliate. Its nearly eight hundred members are drawn from fifty states and five provinces. The national Conference convenes once each year, in the autumn, usually with one of the regional Conferences.

The Conference awards a prize every five years for the best first book by an American or Canadian scholar.

The Conference sponsors a considerable publications program. It publishes the Journal of British Studies at Trinity College; the British Studies Intelligence, a newsletter, at Western Washington State College, Bellingham, Washington; Archives in British History and Culture, a series devoted to the publication of documents, at West Virginia University, Morgantown; and Current Research in British Studies, a quadrennial survey of research in progress in the United States and Canada, published at Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas and edited at Western Washington State College. The Conference also sponsors a series of short monographs, Studies in British History and Culture, edited at Wittenberg University, Springfield, Ohio and published by the Shoe-String Press, Hamden, Connecticut. Under the aegis of the Conference, Cambridge University Press continues to publish a bibliographical series. Albion prints the proceedings of the Conference in its regional and national meetings. Published four times a year at Appalachian State University, Boone, North Carolina, Albion is sent to all members of the Conference. The national Conference on British Studies has fostered the growth of a number of regional Conferences: the Pacific Coast Conference, the Pacific Northwest Conference, the Rocky Mountain Conference, the Midwest Conference, the Southern Conference, the Mid-Atlantic Conference, and the New England Conference. Each of these active and autonomous associations has its own officers, programs, and other activities.

The Journal of British Studies appears twice in the academic year, in the Fall and Spring. Inquiries about subscriptions and advertising rates should be directed to Professor Stuart Prall, Department of History, Queen's College, C.U.N.Y., Flushing, New York 11367.

Manuscripts, not exceeding 8,000 words of text, should be sent to the Editor-Designate, Bentley B. Gilbert, Department of History, University of Illinois at Chicago Circle, Chicago, Illinois 60680. Please send two copies and a self-addressed return stamped envelope.

Volume XIX, No. 1 will be published in the fall of 1979.
