CONTENTS

175 Payments for ecosystem services: durable habits, dubious nudges, and doubtful efficacy
Juha Hiedanpää and Daniel W. Bromley

197 Eleven mechanisms for the evolution of cooperation
Michael A. Zaggl

231 Jumping off of the Great Gatsby curve: how institutions facilitate entrepreneurship and intergenerational mobility
Christopher J. Boudreaux

257 Schumpeterian economic development and financial innovations: a conflicting evolution
Faruk Ülgen

279 Measuring institutional quality in ancient Athens
Andreas Bergh and Carl Hampus Lyttkens

311 Policy credibility and the political economy of reforms: the case of Egypt’s commodity subsidies
Dalibor Rohuc

337 Modeling the evolution of preferences: an answer to Schubert and Cordes
Jakob Kapeller and Stefan Steinerberger

349 Reply to “Modeling the evolution of preferences: an answer to Schubert and Cordes”
Christian Schubert, Christiane Cordes and Peter J. Richerson
Editors

Geoffrey M. Hodgson (Editor-in-Chief)
The University of Hertfordshire, Hatfield, AL10 9AB, UK
richard.d@herts.ac.uk

Richard N. Langlois
Department of Economics,
University of Connecticut, USA

Esther-Mirjam Sont
Department of Economics,
The Netherlands

Kathleen Thelen
Department of Political Science,
Massachusetts Institute of Technology,
Kathleen@mit.edu

Geoffrey M. Hodgson (Editor-in-Chief)

The University of Hertfordshire, Hatfield, AL10 9AB, UK
richard.d@herts.ac.uk

Richard N. Langlois
Department of Economics,
University of Connecticut, USA

Esther-Mirjam Sont
Department of Economics,
The Netherlands

Kathleen Thelen
Department of Political Science,
Massachusetts Institute of Technology,
Kathleen@mit.edu

Journal of Institutional Economics

is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

Statement of Aims

Institutions are the stuff of social and economic life. The importance of understanding the role of institutions in economic growth is now widely appreciated. The Journal of Institutional Economics, devoted to the study of the nature, role and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations, is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

Submissions

All manuscripts must be submitted online via the webpage managed by Cambridge University Press. www.cambridge.org/JoIE

Detailed instructions for submitting your manuscript can be found on the submission website by clicking on the ‘Instructions and Forms’ link in the top right of the screen, and then clicking on the ‘Submit a Manuscript’ Instructions box on the following page.

Only original works not submitted elsewhere and not pending an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission are considered for publication.

Aims

“The Journal of Institutional Economics is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.”

The Editor will acknowledge receipt of the manuscript, provide it with a manuscript reference number and assign it to reviewers. The reference number of the manuscript should be quoted in all correspondence with JOIE Office and Publisher.

The submission page should be at least 300 words. The manuscript should be cited in text as: (consisting of a single letter followed by two single digit, two single digit, four digit year) must accompany or be within the article.

The manuscript should be no longer than 9,000 words. In exceptional cases, development and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations.

The Journal of Institutional Economics is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

The Journal of Institutional Economics, devoted to the study of the nature, role and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations, is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

Only original works not submitted elsewhere and not pending an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission are considered for publication.

The submission page should be at least 300 words. The manuscript should be cited in text as: (consisting of a single letter followed by two single digit, two single digit, four digit year) must accompany or be within the article.

The manuscript should be no longer than 9,000 words. In exceptional cases, development and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations.

The Journal of Institutional Economics is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

The Journal of Institutional Economics, devoted to the study of the nature, role and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations, is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

Only original works not submitted elsewhere and not pending an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission are considered for publication.

The submission page should be at least 300 words. The manuscript should be cited in text as: (consisting of a single letter followed by two single digit, two single digit, four digit year) must accompany or be within the article.

The manuscript should be no longer than 9,000 words. In exceptional cases, development and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations.

The Journal of Institutional Economics is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

The Journal of Institutional Economics, devoted to the study of the nature, role and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations, is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

Only original works not submitted elsewhere and not pending an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission are considered for publication.

The submission page should be at least 300 words. The manuscript should be cited in text as: (consisting of a single letter followed by two single digit, two single digit, four digit year) must accompany or be within the article.

The manuscript should be no longer than 9,000 words. In exceptional cases, development and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations.

The Journal of Institutional Economics is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

The Journal of Institutional Economics, devoted to the study of the nature, role and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations, is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

Only original works not submitted elsewhere and not pending an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission are considered for publication.

The submission page should be at least 300 words. The manuscript should be cited in text as: (consisting of a single letter followed by two single digit, two single digit, four digit year) must accompany or be within the article.

The manuscript should be no longer than 9,000 words. In exceptional cases, development and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations.

The Journal of Institutional Economics is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

The Journal of Institutional Economics, devoted to the study of the nature, role and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations, is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

Only original works not submitted elsewhere and not pending an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission are considered for publication.

The submission page should be at least 300 words. The manuscript should be cited in text as: (consisting of a single letter followed by two single digit, two single digit, four digit year) must accompany or be within the article.

The manuscript should be no longer than 9,000 words. In exceptional cases, development and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations.

The Journal of Institutional Economics is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

The Journal of Institutional Economics, devoted to the study of the nature, role and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations, is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

Only original works not submitted elsewhere and not pending an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission are considered for publication.

The submission page should be at least 300 words. The manuscript should be cited in text as: (consisting of a single letter followed by two single digit, two single digit, four digit year) must accompany or be within the article.

The manuscript should be no longer than 9,000 words. In exceptional cases, development and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations.

The Journal of Institutional Economics is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.

The Journal of Institutional Economics, devoted to the study of the nature, role and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations, is an interdisciplinary journal that will be of interest to all academics working in the social sciences, including in economics, business studies, sociology, politics, geography, anthropology and philosophy. The Journal of Institutional Economics aims to provide all authors with an expert verdict on their articles within 90 days of submission.
CONTENTS

175–195 Payments for ecosystem services: durable habits, dubious nudges, and doubtful efficacy
Juha Hiedanpää and Daniel W. Bromley

197–230 Eleven mechanisms for the evolution of cooperation
Michael A. Zaggl

231–255 Jumping off of the Great Gatsby curve: how institutions facilitate entrepreneurship and intergenerational mobility
Christopher J. Boudreaux

257–277 Schumpeterian economic development and financial innovations: a conflicting evolution
Faruk Ulgen

279–310 Measuring institutional quality in ancient Athens
Andreas Bergh and Carl Hampus Lyttkens

311–335 Policy credibility and the political economy of reform: the case of Egypt's commodity subsidies
Dalibor Rohač

337–347 Modeling the evolution of preferences: an answer to Schubert and Cordes
Jakob Kapeller and Stefan Steinerberger

349–351 Reply to “Modeling the evolution of preferences: an answer to Schubert and Cordes” (JOIE-2013-195.R1)
Christian Schubert, Christian Cordes and Peter J. Richerson