THE GREAT MASTERS

A New Series of Musical Biographies and Histories

This series has been primarily designed for use in schools and for the inquiring student. It will cover the entire field of European music, with special reference to the life and work of the great masters. The authors have been chosen for their particular knowledge of the composers and subjects concerned, many volumes containing the results of recent research. Authentic information, combined with neat typographical presentation, will make this series a welcome accession to every school library and scholar’s bookshelf.

A SHORT INTRODUCTION

TO THE

TECHNIQUE OF TWELVE-TONE COMPOSITION

by

Leopold Spinner

The book of music examples contains quotations from the works of Schoenberg and Webern, together with original illustrative examples. These are analysed to show the building of two-bar phrases, of principal subjects in forms of eight-bar sentences and eight-bar periods, of a movement in scherzo form, and of contrasting middle sections of small ternary forms. The book of music examples is accompanied by a booklet of explanatory notes and a complete table showing the four forms and the eleven transpositions of the row used in the original examples.

OPERA IN THREE ACTS

Realised and edited by
Benjamin Britten and Imogen Holst

In preparing this working edition, which is intended chiefly for performance, the editors have used both the Tenbury and Oki manuscripts, the only two at present known to exist. The full score and pocket score, which will be published shortly, will contain, besides an explanatory preface, a list of comparisons showing where the two manuscripts disagree.

Also soon to be published is a facsimile of Nahum Tate's libretto of 1689/90.

The vocal score is now on sale
Price 17s. 6d.
