The Volkswagen Foundation

The Volkswagen Foundation manages an endowment fund of around €3.1 billion. Each year it grants funding in excess of €100 million, making it Germany’s largest private science funding organization.

The objective pursued by the Foundation is to provide support for the development of science and technology in the areas of education and research. It also comes to the aid of scientific institutions seeking to improve the structural conditions for their work. The Foundation places a high priority on the advancement of junior researchers and cooperation beyond the boundaries of disciplines and national borders.

The Foundation is economically self-sufficient and completely independent in its decision making. Funding is equally available to the social sciences and the humanities as well as the natural sciences, engineering, and medicine.

Since it was founded more than 50 years ago, the Volkswagen Foundation has allocated more than €4.7 billion in support of over 31,000 projects.

The International Centre for Higher Education Research-Kassel (INCHER-Kassel)

The International Centre for Higher Education Research Kassel (INCHER-Kassel) is an interdisciplinary research unit of the University of Kassel, Germany. It is one of the few research institutes at universities in Europe that is large enough to investigate questions of higher education and society from a broad range of different perspectives.

Research at INCHER-Kassel is addressed in four thematic areas:

- Change of Knowledge Production
- Students and Graduates
- Governance and Organization
- Innovation and Transfer

Additionally, cross-cutting issues such as globalization and social inequality have significance in all four areas.

At INCHER-Kassel the promotion of young researchers has high priority. A team of about 50 persons work at the Centre, consisting of professors, senior academic staff, research associates, non-academic staff, doctoral students and student assistants.

Its founding director, Ulrich Teichler, as well as its current director, Georg Krücken, are both members of Academia Europaea.
