

THE History of Economics Society BULLETIN

Volume III, Issue 1

SUMMER 1981

HES

The HES Bulletin is published semiannually by
The History of Economics Society at George Mason University

©Copyright 1981

The HES Bulletin

Publication of the History of Economics Society

Karen I. Vaughn, Editor

THE 1981-82 EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE HISTORY OF ECONOMICS SOCIETY

President	Warren Samuels Michigan State University
President-Elect	Martin Bronfenbrenner Duke University
Vice-President	John Whitaker University of Virginia
Past President	William Grampp University of Illinois, Chicago Circle
Past President	Royall Brandis University of Illinois
Secretary Treasurer	Laurence S. Moss Babson College
Elected Members	Kenneth Carpenter Kress Library, Harvard University Klaus Hennings Lehrstuhl VWLF Universtät Hannover Ann Schwier Southern Illinois University Donald Walker Indiana University of Pennsylvania

All communications regarding material for possible inclusion in the HES Bulletin should be addressed to:

Karen I. Vaughn, Editor
HES Bulletin
Department of Economics
George Mason University
Fairfax, VA 22030

All submissions should be typed and double-spaced.

Requests for institutional subscriptions and membership information should be addressed to:

Laurence S. Moss, Secretary-Treasurer
History of Economics Society
Economics Division
Babson College
Wellesley, Massachusetts 02157

CONTENTS

Program Announcement of Joint AEA-HES Sessions at The Allied Social Science Meetings	6
Abstracts of Papers Delivered at the History of Economics Society's Eighth Annual Meeting at the Kellog Center, Michigan State University, May 31 - June 3, 1981	7
Are Economists of Any Use? Invited Lecture Frank Whitson Fetter	31
Report on the Activities of the Kress Society Laurence Moss	41
A Symbolic Representative of the Bankruptcy of Amsterdam in 1763 Ruth Reinstein Rogers	43
Lord Robbins on Robert Torrens' The Economist Refuted William O. Thweatt	45
A Note on John Stuart Mills' Views on Capital Punishment George A. Thoma	49
Notes, Queries and Announcements	51
Minutes of the HES Business Meeting – May 31, 1981	54
History of Economics Society Comparative Statement of Cash Receipts and Disbursements January 1 - December 31, 1980, 1979, 1978	56
History of Economics Society Statement of Cash Receipts and Disbursements January 1 - May 31, 1981	57

Joseph J. Spengler History of Economics Society Distinguished Fellow

Joseph Spengler is one of the most profitable and wide-ranging scholars of our time. His professional writings in his two primary fields of interest, economic demography and the history of economic thought, has spanned over five decades and has been concerned with over two and a half millenia of human history. His publication record so far of over 300 articles and 22 books is one that few can match either in numbers, depth or erudition.

While the greater part of Professor Spengler's writings are ostensibly in the field of demography rather than in the history of economic thought, there is often no clear line to be drawn between the two in his work. His writings in the history of economic thought turn more often than not to ideas of growth, development and population found in earlier thinkers. Indeed, his interest in our field was first evident in his earliest article on Malthus – a figure to whom he has returned again and again throughout his long career. Moreover, his writings on contemporary problems display a careful attention to the origins and development of ideas that is the hallmark of a fine scholar. Professor Spengler has shown us that to understand an idea means to know its intellectual and sociological origins.

What probably marks Professor Spengler's work as characteristically his even more than his notoriously plentiful and lengthy footnotes, is the enormous breadth of his interests. The subjects of his articles and books range from the more or less familiar – Aristotle, Heroditus, the Physiocrats, Bouisguilbert, Cantillon, Malthus, Smith, J.S. Mill, Cassel – to the clearly exotic – The Arthasastra and Indian economic thought, Ssu-ma Ch'ien, Kautilya, Lord Shang, Islamic economic thought and Alberuni, Eleventh Century Iranian Malthusian. In all of his writings, especially those not easily fit into any particular mold because of their basically philosophical nature, Professor Spengler displays a deep concern for values, order, intellectual humility in the face ignorance, and a civility in human dealings that he sees to be our fragile protection from Hobbes's jungle. This message he has conveyed not only through his writings, but, also during his long career as teacher and mentor to many a lucky graduate student at Duke University.

Vital, hard-working, loved and respected by his colleagues, Joseph Spengler has received many professional honors from learned associations. Ours, however, is a special heartfelt thanks to a man who has set an example for us all to follow but rarely ever to match.