The Irish War
The Hidden Conflict between the IRA and British Intelligence

Tony Geraghty

“Geraghty has produced a book both readable and alarming. The first third is a well-observed account of a largely visible British war machine coping with the horrors of the Northern Ireland Troubles. The last third is devoted to militarism in Ireland up to 1921. But it is the middle third, the covert war, that astonishes.”—The Herald (Glasgow)

Rogue States and U.S. Foreign Policy

Containment after the Cold War

Robert S. Litwak

“Litwak’s examination of U.S. policy toward ‘rogue states’ raises the right questions regarding a truly complex and yet very timely subject. It skillfully avoids some of the simplifications that have dominated the public discourse on this vital subject.”—Zbigniew Brzezinski, former National Security Adviser

Nationalism and the Crowd in Liberal Hungary, 1848-1914

Alice Freifeld

Hungary’s revolutionary crowd of 1848 was defeated in 1849, but crowds of other kinds and crowd politics remained central to Hungary as it fashioned itself over the next half-century. Alice Freifeld describes how the crowd’s shifting cast of characters participated in the making of Hungary inside the increasingly troubled Austro-Hungarian empire. Woodrow Wilson Center Press

Israel and the Politics of Jewish Identity

The Secular-Religious Impasse

Asher Cohen and Bernard Susser

“Topical and well written, this book clearly describes the rising conflict between religious and secular Jews as the original compromise agreements to prevent such conflict collapse. This is the first book to bring together all the relevant data, and the authors make their point very well.”—Robert O. Freedman, President, Baltimore Hebrew University, editor of Israel in the Begin Era and Israel under Rabin. Woodrow Wilson Center Press

Visiting Fellowships
2001–2002

Center of International Studies
Princeton University

The Center of International Studies (CIS) at Princeton University invites applications for Visiting Fellowships for the academic year 2001–2002. The CIS will award eight to ten fellowships to college and university faculty and professionals interested in contributing to research and writing on international relations and national development. Fellows participate in a weekly seminar and other activities of the Center. They have access to Firestone Library and the many facilities of Princeton University. Teaching opportunities can be explored on an individual basis.

Applicants are expected to have a doctorate or a professional postgraduate degree; they may not be in the process of writing a dissertation. The application deadline is December 15, 2000, for fellowships beginning September 2001. Information and an application can be obtained by writing to Visiting Fellowships, Center of International Studies, Bendheim Hall, Princeton University, Princeton, NJ 08544-1022; by calling the Center at 609-258-4851; or from the Center’s website at http://www.wws.princeton.edu/~cis.
