

Contents

Preface	page ix
Acknowledgments	xix
PART I LITERATURE AND SCIENCE POLICY
1 A New Project for the Humanities Ian McEwan	3
PART II DEEP TIME
2 Victorian Chimeras H. G. Wells, Thomas H. Huxley	35
3 Cain's Legacy: The Mark of Lamarck in Late-Victorian Fiction Edward Bulwer-Lytton, Samuel Butler, H. Rider Haggard, Wilkie Collins	54
4 Evolution in the Tropics: Neo-Victorian Fictions A. S. Byatt, Andrea Barrett, David Mitchell	76
PART III THE MODERN SYNTHESIS
5 The Modern Synthesis: Genetics and Dystopia in the Huxley Circle Aldous Huxley, J. B. S. Haldane, Julian Huxley	97
6 The Ridicule of Time: Science Fiction and the Posthuman Robert A. Heinlein to Octavia Butler	120

PART IV GENOME TIME

7	Time Considered as a Helix of Infinite Possibilities Samuel R. Delany	147
8	Biodystopia Gary Shteyngart, Philip Kerr, Margaret Atwood	163
9	Clones and Other Sorrows Kazuo Ishiguro	182
	Conclusion	198
	Notes	204
	Works Cited	223
	Index	244