

CONTRIBUTORS

PATRICIA CARDEN is chairman of the Department of Russian Literature at Cornell University.

ROBERT H. McNEAL is professor of history at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst.

ALFRED G. MEYER is professor of political science at the University of Michigan.

ELLEN MICKIEWICZ is professor of political science at Michigan State University and an associate of the Russian Research Center, Harvard University.

SAMUEL A. OPPENHEIM is associate professor of history at California State College-Stanislaus, Turlock, California.

RAY J. PARROTT, JR. is associate professor of Russian literature and chairman of the Department of Russian at the University of Iowa, Iowa City.

JAMES Y. SIMMS, JR. is associate professor of history at Hampden-Sydney College in Virginia.

DAVID A. T. STAFFORD is an associate professor at the University of Victoria in British Columbia.

Here's to Your Health, Comrade Shifrin!

BY ILYA SUSLOV

Translated by Maxine Bronstein • Foreword by Maurice Friedberg

This picaresque, satiric novel, suppressed in Russia, relates with youthful bounce the amusing adventures of its narrator, Tolya Shifrin, a victim of Soviet anti-Semitism. As we follow Tolya's education and his career, we are introduced to a colorful gallery of human types who also represent a variety of responses to the Soviet state. "... amusing, and intermittently telling indictment of the 'strange absurd' life one can lead in a rigidly structured society." —Kirkus Reviews $8.95

A Decade of Euphoria

Western Literature in Post-Stalin Russia, 1954-64

BY MAURICE FRIEDBERG

"Friedberg, in his thoroughly researched study, explores the role of translated literature in Russia during the decade following Stalin's death. . . . Friedberg's chatty, anecdotal style, as well as the wealth of insights he provides, should make the work attractive to both the general reader and the specialist." —Library Journal $17.50

Time, Forward!

BY VALENTIN KATAEV

Translated by Charles Malamuth • Foreword by Edward J. Brown

Probably the most successful of the Russian "industrial novels" of the 1930s is Kataev's Time, Forward!, a valid fictional document of the times and an attractive story in its own right. Kataev depicts the workers building a gigantic steel plant in the wilderness of the Urals. cloth $12.50 paper $3.95

Soviet-American Academic Exchanges, 1958-1975

BY ROBERT F. BYRNES

A uniquely qualified authority on Soviet-American academic exchanges analyzes their character and implications with candor and vigor. Byrnes illuminates the nature of the two competing societies, the issues at stake, and the changing character of international politics. "No one else could have written with such authority and clarity on both the educational and political aspects of the program." —Foreign Affairs paper $10.00

Indiana University Press

Tenth and Morton Streets • Bloomington, Indiana 47401
