The cover illustration for the African Studies Review, volume 34, number 1, was inadvertently omitted during the printing process. The printer, McNaughton and Gunn Lithographers of Ann Arbor, Michigan, has acknowledged responsibility for the error and extends its regrets to the editor and the editorial board of the African Studies Review and to the ASA membership.

NOTICE TO MEMBERS

The United States Postal System does not forward periodicals. We must receive written notification from you at least five weeks in advance of any change of mailing address. Failure to notify us of your correct mailing address will result in suspension of your membership mailings until we receive such notification. We can make address changes only when current dues are paid. Domestic claims for nonreceipt of issues must be made to the Association's office within six months of publication (overseas claims, one year). Copies of the Review damaged in the mail will be replaced without charge.

The African Studies Review is published three times a year (April, September, and December) by the African Studies Association, Credit Union Building, Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia 30322, USA. Articles in the Review represent neither the views of the African Studies Association nor those of its officers; responsibility for opinions expressed and for the accuracy of facts published rests solely with the individual authors.

CONTRIBUTORS

JEAN MARIE ALLMAN is Assistant Professor of African History at the University of Missouri. Her work on nationalism and politics in late colonial Asante has appeared in the Journal of African History. She is currently working on an historical examination of the changing dynamics of motherhood in that same region of Ghana. Her work on women and social change in colonial Asante has appeared in Gender and History.

DAVID H. ANTHONY, III is an Assistant Professor in the Board of Studies in History, Oakes College, University of California-Santa Cruz. His most recent publications have appeared in the Radical History Review and the San Francisco Review of Books, and he has contributed a chapter to the forthcoming second volume of Apartheid and Education, Peter Kallaway, editor. After the Yergan book is completed, he intends to revise his dissertation, now envisioned as a Social History of Dar es Salaam.

BENJAMIN B. B. NAANEN teaches economic history in the Department of History, University of Port Harcourt, Nigeria. He got his Ph.D. from Dalhousie University, Halifax, Canada.

BYRON G. SPENCER is a Professor of Economics at McMaster University and a Research Associate of the McMaster Program for Quantitative Studies in Economics and Population (the QSEP Program). His main research interests are in population economics and in quantitative economics generally, and he has published extensively in these areas.

CYNTHIA C. SUNAL is a Professor of Curriculum and Instruction in the College of Education at the University of Alabama.

DENNIS W. SUNAL is a Professor of Curriculum and Instruction in the College of Education at the University of Alabama.

IRENA WINKOWSKA is a Research Officer at McMaster University. From 1978 to 1984 she was Assistant Professor at the Alemaya College of Agriculture, Addis Ababa University, Ethiopia. Her research interests are in development economics, especially, in an African context.
