Jennifer Curtin teaches comparative politics and public policy in the Department of Political Studies at the University of Auckland, New Zealand. She has published on feminist policy activism in trade unions, the bureaucracy and parliament and is the author of Women and Trade Unions. A Comparative Perspective (1999) and co-editor of a special issue of the Australian Journal of Political Science entitled Globalising the Antipodes? Policy and Politics in Australia and New Zealand (2006).

Elizabeth Ben-Ishai is Assistant Professor of Political Science at Albion College, where she teaches classes in contemporary political thought, feminist political thought, and the history of political thought. She has previously published in the Journal of Political Philosophy and is completing a book manuscript on the state's ability to foster individual autonomy through social service delivery.

Patrick J. Egan is Assistant Professor of Politics and Public Policy at New York University, where he specializes in public opinion, political institutions, and their relationship in the context of American politics. He is co-editor of Public Opinion and Constitutional Controversy (Oxford University Press 2008).

Akwugo Emejulu is Lecturer in Politics and Community Development at the University of Edinburgh. She specializes in political theory with a focus on political agency, grassroots activism and constructions of race and gender. With Audrey Bronstein, she is co-editing a special issue of the Community Development Journal entitled, The Politics of Everyday Life: Feminisms and Contemporary Community Development. She is currently carrying out research on the economic and social wellbeing of minority ethnic groups in Scotland.

Sandra Grey is Senior Lecturer in Social Policy at Victoria University of Wellington. Her research focus is on social movements in New Zealand. Sandra's most recent publication in this field is Women's Movements: Flourishing or in Abeyance? (co-edited with Marian Sawyer). She has also published on the substantive representation of women in politics. Sandra is currently working on a major project examining activism by the New Zealand women's, union, and anti-poverty movements since 1970.

Helen M. Kinsella is Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science at the University of Wisconsin, Madison. She has published in Signs, Review of International Studies, and Political Theory. She works on gender, armed conflict, and the laws of war.

James Richter is Professor of Politics at Bates College in Lewiston, Maine. He has written several articles on civil society and transnational assistance in Russia, most recently in Post-Soviet Affairs.

Marian Sawer is Emeritus Professor in the School of Politics and International Relations, Australian National University. She is author or editor of 16 books, including most recently Federalism, Feminism and Multilevel Governance (co-edited, 2010). She is leading a number of research projects, including Mapping the Australian Women's Movement (with Sarah Maddison), and conducts consultancy work for government on the gender assessment of policy.

Katherine Teghtsoonian teaches courses on policy and critical approaches to policy analysis in the Studies in Policy and Practice program in the Faculty of Human and Social Development at the University of Victoria in British Columbia, Canada. Her research on women's policy agencies and gender mainstreaming initiatives in British Columbia and Aotearoa/New Zealand has been published in the Australian Journal of Political Science, the Canadian Journal of Political Science and the International Political Science Review.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CONTRIBUTORS

Politics & Gender accepts manuscript submissions through the Editorial Manager system at <http://www.editorialmanager.com/pag>

For questions concerning "Instructions to Contributors," please contact the Editor, Jennifer Lawless at lawless@american.edu. Additional information can be found at the journal's website at <http://www.journals.cambridge.org/action/displayJournal?jid=PAG>

BOOK REVIEWS

Suggestions of books to be reviewed should be emailed to the Book Review Editor:

Sue Tolleson-Rinehart
University of North Carolina
suetr@unc.edu

MANUSCRIPT PREPARATION

- Manuscripts must be no longer than 30 pages including text, tables and figures, references and appendices. The entire manuscript (including notes and references) must be double-spaced, with one-inch margins and 12-point font, and printed on one side of the page only.
- The author must include a separate title page, with his or her full contact information (including email address, telephone number and institutional affiliation), and a brief biographical statement. All identifying information must be removed from the manuscript.
- A second page must include an abstract of no more than 200 words.
- Placement of tables or figures should be cited in the text. The publisher will be responsible for placing artwork, tables or figures, as well as converting endnotes to footnotes.
- Appendices, tables, and figures should be numbered consecutively throughout the article and be included on separate pages appearing after the reference section. Figures should be ready for photographic reproduction; they cannot be redrawn by the publisher. Charts, graphs, or other artwork should be professionally rendered or computer generated. Photographs should be clearly printed and should remain legible after a 50% reduction.

- References and notes should conform to the APSA Style Manual. Authors should include full volume, issue, and page numbers for references. Author's acknowledgments or other personal notes will appear as an unnumbered note at the foot of the page. Notes should be numbered consecutively throughout the article. Numbered notes should appear at the end of the sentence. If multiple texts are cited in a sentence they should appear as one consolidated note at the end of the sentence.
- Endnotes should be employed (rather than footnotes).
- All figure captions should be typed on a separate page (or pages), rather than on the figures themselves (which are camera-ready art) so that they can be copyedited.

Originality and copyright: Papers with multiple authors are reviewed with the assumption that all authors concur with its submission. A Copyright Transfer Agreement, with certain specified rights reserved by the author, must be signed and returned to the Editor by senior authors of accepted manuscripts, prior to publication. Politics & Gender does not accept manuscripts for review that are under review elsewhere, previously published or already committed for publication.

For general guidelines for preparing a manuscript for submission, please refer to the APSA Style Manual for Political Science (rev. ed. 2001) for citation, footnotes, references, and other style issues. Please note, in particular, the statement on gender-specific language (15).
