CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Editors

Karen Orren, University of California, Los Angeles
Stephen Skowronek, Yale University

Studies in American Political Development publishes high quality scholarship covering American political change and institutional development from a historical perspective. Articles focus on government institutions and their social, economic and cultural environment. The journal features in-depth original articles, which allow scholars to elaborate on the complex patterns of state-society relations. These longer articles also encourage an interdisciplinary approach—tying in relevant issues and related themes. In addition, SAPD recognizes the importance of comparative politics to the study of American institutions.

Published for MARHO: The Radical
Historians' Organization

Radical History Review presents innovative scholarship and commentary that looks critically at the past and its historians from a non-sectarian left perspective. RHR scrutinizes conventional history and seeks to broaden and advance the discussion of crucial issues such as the role of race, class and gender in history. The journal offers original articles; review essays that examine the uses and abuses of history in the popular media, film, history museums and other public forums; and interviews with leading radical historians. Each volume is illustrated with drawings, cartoons, photographs and other graphic art. Issues are often thematic and cover a wide range of geographic areas and subjects. Volume 58 will be devoted to "Latin American Labor".

Memories of Chicano History

The Life and Narrative of Bert Corona

By MARIO T. GARCÍA

Foreword by David Montgomery

“An inspiring personal story—the odyssey of a Chicano labor activist. Here is history presented with vividness and power.”

—Ronald Takaki,

author of A Different Mirror

In this landmark publication—the first autobiography by a major figure in Chicano history—Bert Corona relates his life story. An early labor organizer among ethnic communities in southern California, Corona has agitated for labor and civil rights since the 1940s.

READING HISTORY

Citizen Worker

The Experience of Workers in the United States with Democracy and the Free Market during the Nineteenth Century

David Montgomery

This original and significant work examines the relationship between workers and government by focusing not on the legal regulations of unions and strikes, but on popular struggles for citizens' rights. The extent and failures of workers' efforts to exercise power through political parties provide insights from the nineteenth century to guide our thinking about the twenty-first.

42057-1 Hardcover $21.95

Home to Work

Motherhood and the Politics of Industrial Homework in the United States

Eileen Boris

Gender prejudices have shaped the battle over homework from the 1870s. But by the 1980s, the middle-class mother at the keyboard has replaced the victimized immigrant. This record of the voice of homeworking women in the debate over their labor also provides an historical context to the Reaganite lifting of New Deal bans.

44370-9 Hardcover $59.95

45548-0 Paper $17.95

Between the Fields and the City

Women, Work, and Family in Russia, 1861–1914

Barbara Alpern Engel

By examining the significance and consequences of Russian peasant women's migration from the village to the factory and city from 1861 to 1914, this book charts the personal dimensions of economic and social change. The author uses case studies to explore the effects of urbanization and industrialization on the relationship of the migrant to the peasant household, and on family life and personal relations.

44236-2 Hardcover $59.95

Labour Women

Women in British Working Class Politics, 1918–1939

Pamela A. Graves

A study of the first post-suffrage generation of women members in the Labour Party and the Co-operative movement reviews their struggles with the male leadership, relations with middle class feminists, and strong showing in community politics and local government.

41247-1 Hardcover about $59.95

45919-2 Paper about $19.95

Purchasing Power

Consumer Organizing, Gender, and the Seattle Labor Movement, 1919–1929

Dana Frank

"Purchasing Power is a careful, nuanced study of consumer organizing within the labor movement in the 1920s. Frank exposes the pivotal importance of gender relations inside and outside the home in shaping the successes and failures of labor boycotts, cooperatives, and union label campaigns."

—Ruth Milkman,

University of California, Los Angeles

38367-6 Hardcover $64.95

46714-4 Paper $18.95

Resistance and Integration

Peronism and the Argentine Working Class, 1946–1976

Daniel James

"Daniel James offers us a fascinating exploration into the enigmas of Argentine Peronism as he disentangles that most perplexing phenomenon, the post-1955 Peronist labor movement... This work makes a major contribution to our understanding of Peronism and recent Argentine history."

—David Tamarin,

American Historical Review

46682-2 Paper $15.95

The European Revolutions, 1848–1851

Jonathan Sperber

Designed to introduce the principal themes and problems of this sometimes bewildering period in European history, this account is supplemented by extensive notes and condensed biographies and incorporates the very latest scholarship on the revolution as a social and political mass movement.
