

Books on the Middle East from State University of New York Press

Egypt Under Nasir

A Study in Political Dynamics

By R. Hrair Dekmejian, State University of New York at Binghamton. A comprehensive study of Egyptian politics since the 1952 Revolution, with special emphasis on the interaction of charismatic leadership, ideology, elites, social groups, and institutions. Based largely on original Arabic sources, the study traces the evolution of the political system from 1952 through the June 1967 war and the aftermath of President Gamal Abd al-Nasir's death.

$10.00; ISBN 0-87395-080-1 (cloth); ISBN 0-87395-180-8 (microfiche)

The Middle East Supply Centre

By Martin W. Wilmington, late of Harvard University. Edited by Laurence Evans, State University of New York at Binghamton. Foreword by Commander Sir Robert Jackson. During World War II the United States joined the United Kingdom in the successful operation of the Middle East Supply Centre, a regional organization which indisputably saved the Middle East for the Allied cause and which, if perpetuated, might have formed the basis for regional peace and stability. The creation, evolution, responsibilities, and activities of the Centre, as well as the reasons for its dissolution in 1945, are described analytically in this volume.

$10.00; ISBN 0-87395-081-X (cloth); ISBN 0-87395-181-6 (microfiche)

Forthcoming . . .

Saladin

By Andrew S. Ehrenkreutz, The University of Michigan. A critical re-interpretation of the life and career of Salah al-Din.

ISBN 0-87395-095-X (cloth); ISBN 0-87395-195-6 (microfiche)

State University of New York Press

Albany 12201