CALL FOR PAPERS

The Canadian Journal on Aging is planning a special issue which will emphasize the contribution of the Humanities to the field of Aging. Submissions are being invited for inclusion in this special issue. The papers should be 20–25 pages, typed, double-spaced.

In terms of disciplinary orientations, submitted papers should originate in such areas as History, Philosophy, Theology, and Literature. In addition to these disciplines, papers will be considered from such areas as Anthropology, Psychology, Education, and Sociology. However, the distinguishing feature of the submission must be that it employs a Humanities-based approach to the particular area (as examples, ethics or wisdom). The emphasis must be on such things as interpretation, critique and the analysis of values. Finally, papers will be considered that discuss a Humanities-based approach to intervention in the field of Aging.

Submissions should be forwarded by December 1, 1992 to:

APPEL D’ARTICLES

Les articles soumis devront traiter d’aspects historiques, philosophiques, théologiques ou littéraires. En plus de ces disciplines, les articles émanant de l’anthropologie, de la psychologie, de l’éducation et de la sociologie seront aussi considérés. Tous les articles devront s’inspirer de la tradition des humanités, par exemple l’éthique ou la morale. L’emphase devra être mise sur l’interprétation, la critique et l’analyse des valeurs. Enfin, des articles s’inspirant des enjeux de la pratique gérontologique ou gériatrique, mais basés sur les humanités, sont aussi bienvenus.

Toutes les soumissions doivent parvenir avant le 1er décembre 1992 à:

A Call for Papers
Special Issue of the Canadian Journal on Aging on Quantitative Methodology

A forthcoming special issue of the Canadian Journal on Aging will be devoted to papers dealing with quantitative methods. Theoretical and applied papers are encouraged, as long as the implications for quantitative method are clearly articulated. This special issue is scheduled for publication in Autumn 1992. Manuscripts should be sent by 15 April 1992 to the Guest Editor at which time the paper will become subject to the usual peer review process.
