Eighteenth-Century Music

Editors
W. Dean Sutcliffe, University of Auckland, New Zealand
Steven Zohn, Temple University, USA

Eighteenth-Century Music addresses a conspicuous gap in its field and serves as a prestigious forum for all eighteenth-century music research. The aims of this dedicated journal are: to draw together disparate areas of research, challenge accepted historical assumptions and adopt a broad and interdisciplinary approach which will serve the whole eighteenth-century music community.

Nineteenth-Century Music Review aims to locate music within the widest possible framework of intellectual activity pertaining to the long nineteenth century (c.1789–1914). It particularly welcomes interdisciplinary scholarship that explores music within the context of other artistic and scientific discourses. Articles with fine visual or iconographic content are encouraged, as are those rich in musically illustrative material. Articles accepted for publication will reflect a diversity of critical viewpoints.

All material submitted for consideration will receive open-minded editorial attention, and works, once accepted for peer review, will proceed anonymously to at least two readers (one from the editorial board, the other external to it). Books and music will be reviewed extensively in each issue with the particular aim of extending awareness of music literature into extra-musical disciplines.
For over twenty years the Cambridge Opera Journal has been the pre-eminent forum for scholarship on opera in all its manifestations. The Journal publishes essays not only on all aspects of the European operatic tradition, but also on American opera and musical theatre, on non-Western music theatres, on contemporary opera production, and on the theory and historiography of opera. Carefully researched and often illustrated with music examples and pictures, articles adopt a wide spectrum of critical approaches. As well as major articles, each issue includes reviews of recent important publications in the field.

Organised Sound is an international peer-reviewed journal which focuses on the rapidly developing methods and issues arising from the use of technology in music today. It concentrates upon the impact which the application of technology is having upon music in a variety of genres, including multimedia, performance art, sound sculpture and music ranging from popular idioms to experimental electroacoustic composition. It provides a unique forum for anyone interested in electroacoustic music studies, its creation and related developments to share the results of their research as they affect musical issues. An accompanying DVD is sent to subscribers annually.
Popular Music is an international multi-disciplinary journal covering all aspects of the subject - from the formation of social group identities through popular music, to the workings of the global music industry, to how particular pieces of music are put together. The journal includes all kinds of popular music, whether rap or rai, jazz or rock, from any historical era and any geographical location. Popular Music carries articles by scholars from a large variety of disciplines and theoretical perspectives. Each issue contains substantial, authoritative and influential articles, shorter topical pieces, and reviews of a wide range of books.

Twentieth-Century Music disseminates research on all aspects of music in the long twentieth century to a broad readership. Emphasis is placed upon the presentation of the full spectrum of scholarly insight, with the goal of fostering exchange and debate between disciplinary fields. Individual issues may address a single theme, or encompass diverse topics and musical repertoires of current import. Our reviews section offers agenda-setting responses to newly published work.

Mission Statement

As a ‘Quarterly Review of New Music’, TEMPO exists to document the international new music scene while contributing to, and stimulating, current debates therein. Its emphasis is on musical developments in our own century, as well as on music that came to prominence in the later twentieth century that has not yet received the attention it deserves.

Subscriptions

TEMPO (ISSN 0040-2982) is published four times a year in January, April, July and October. Four parts form a volume. The subscription price for volume 69 (Nos. 271-274), which includes delivery by air where appropriate (but excluding VAT) is £111 (US $186 in US dollars, Canada and Mexico) for institutions (print and electronic); £90 (US $135) for institutions (electronic only); £27 (US $45) for individuals ordering direct from the publisher and certifying that the journal is for their personal use (print only). EU subscribers (outside the UK) who are not registered for VAT should add VAT at their country’s rate. VAT registered members should provide their VAT registration number. Japanese prices for institutions (including ASP delivery) are available from Kinokuniya Company Ltd, P.O. Box 51, Chitose, Tokyo 156, Japan.

Orders, which must be accompanied by payment, may be sent to a book-seller, subscription agent or direct to the publisher: Cambridge University Press, Journals Fulfillment Department, UPH, Shaftesbury Road, Cambridge CB2 8BS; or in the USA, Canada and Mexico: Cambridge University Press, Journals Fulfillment Department, 100 Brook Hill Drive, West Nyack, New York 10994-2133. Periodicals postage paid at New York, NY and at additional mailing offices.

Copying

This journal is registered with the Copyright Clearance Center, 22 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923, USA. Organizations in the USA who are also registered with the C.C.C. may therefore copy material (beyond the limits permitted by sections 107 and 108 of U.S. Copyright law) subject to payment to the C.C.C. of the per copy fee of $12. This consent does not extend to multiple copying for promotional or commercial purposes. Code 0840-2892/2015 $12. © TES Total Share Sheet, 3101 Market Street, Philadelphia, PA 19104, USA, is authorized to supply single copies of separate articles for private use only. Organizations authorized by the Copyright Licensing Agency may also copy, material subject to the usual conditions. For all other use, permission should be sought from Cambridge or from the American Branch of Cambridge University Press.

PERFORMANCES: 2000 words
CDs and DVDs: 800 words
BOOKS: 1500 words

Proofs

First proofs of an article or review will be sent to the author as a PDF attached to an e-mail, and should be returned within two days of receipt. Corrections should be confined to typographical errors and matters of fact.

Copyright

Contributors of accepted articles will be required to assign their copyrights on certain conditions to Cambridge University Press. Copyright will not be transferred to the journal; authors will retain all rights for the first 7 years of publication. Contributions for future issues will be included in a CD, and authors will receive a high-quality PDF of their article on request.

Instructions for Contributors

Contributions written in English are welcomed from all countries. Manuscripts should not have been published previously or be under consideration for publication elsewhere in any form.

The Editors are keen to publish articles on the new music scene in all its complexity, not simply on a particular work by a particular composer. Discussion of compositional trends, performance practices, listening practices, new music contexts and reception histories are encouraged. TEMPO is sympathetic both to writing about new forms of creative practice (electronic, interdisciplinary, performance-based) and to writing that employs innovative methods of enquiry that differ from the aims of traditional musicology (work broadly adhering to the latter is nonetheless not excluded). These considerations apply equally to TEMPO’s Reviews Section.

Articles

Article suggestions or submissions, and all correspondence relating to articles, should be sent to the Editor, at tempoeditor@cambridge.org. Articles should be in the form of a MS Word Document, not in pdf format. They should generally be no more than 3,000 words in length, and may also be shorter, and may be illustrated by music examples, photographs and/or facsimiles. Normally articles will contain no more than six examples and/or facsimiles and one or two photographs and/or facsimiles. Authors are responsible for providing camera-ready copy of each table, figure, or image with the submission of an article. Any such material should be submitted separately to the article text, in the form of a jpg or tiff, ideally at 1200 dpi. Contributors are responsible for providing a c. 150-word abstract of their article, and also for obtaining permission to reproduce any material for which they do not hold copyright and for ensuring that the appropriate acknowledgments are included in the typescript. The full address of the copyright holder should be provided. Contributors should also submit a 100-word biography.

Articles should not end with a bibliography – all references should be put in footnotes (and not endnotes or in-text citations). Single quotation marks should be used for quotations in the main text, double quotation marks for quotations within a quotation. Contributors from North America may submit with American spellings, but these will be changed to UK spellings for publication. Dates are written thus: c. 1999, 2000s, 14 April 2008. Bibliographic citations should follow the pattern:

Reviews

Review suggestions or submissions, and correspondence relating to reviews, should be sent to the Reviews Editor, Juliet Fraser, at tempoeditor@cambridge.org. All reviews should be submitted to the Reviews Editor as a Word document. As a general rule, reviews should not include illustrations. Exceptions to this should be discussed with the Reviews Editor. To submit items for review, please send to:
