

Journal of Child Language

Volume 50 NUMBER 1 JANUARY 2023

Articles

- Haopeng Yu, Haiyan Wang and Xiaowei He
The comprehension of relative clauses in Mandarin Children with suspected specific language impairment 1
- Tania S. Zamuner, Theresa Rabideau, Margarethe McDonald and H. Henny Yeung
Developmental change in children's speech processing of auditory and visual cues: An eyetracking study 27
- Eva Castillo, Mariia Pronina, Iris Hübscher and Pilar Prieto
Narrative Performance and Sociopragmatic Abilities in Preschool Children are Linked to Multimodal Imitation Skills 52
- Nathalie Boonen, Hanne Kloots, Pietro Nurzia and Steven Gillis
Spontaneous speech intelligibility: early cochlear implanted children versus their normally hearing peers at seven years of age 78
- Abigail Petrie, Robert Mayr, Fei Zhao and Simona Montanari
Parent-child interaction during storybook reading: wordless narrative books versus books with text 104
- Rabia Sabah Meziane and Andrea A.N. Macleod
Internal and external factors contributing to variability in consonant accuracy of Arabic–French simultaneous bilingual children 132
- Marta Ramon-Casas, Susana Cortés, Ariadna Benet, Conxita Lleó and Laura Bosch
Connecting perception and production in early Catalan–Spanish bilingual children: language dominance and quality of input effects 155
- Aslı Aktan-Erciyes and Tilbe Gökşun
Early parental causal language input predicts children's later causal verb understanding 177

Brief Research Report

- Amber Muhinyi and Caroline F. Rowland
Contributions of Abstract Extratextual Talk and Interactive Style to Preschoolers' Vocabulary Development 198