THE BOOK IN THE ISLAMIC WORLD

THE WRITTEN WORD
AND COMMUNICATION
IN THE MIDDLE EAST

EDITED BY GEORGE N. ATIYEH

Published jointly with the Library of Congress, this is an illustrated history of the book and the written word in the Islamic world.

"...sound, persuasive, interesting, and compelling. ...a delight to the eyes as well as to the mind."

— Charles E. Butterworth, University of Maryland, College Park

This volume brings together studies on the book as an intellectual entity and as a vehicle of cultural development in the Islamic world. Written by a distinguished group of scholars—Muhsin Mahdi, Jacques Berque, Franz Rosenthal, Seyyed Hossein Nasr, Annemarie Schimmel, Wadād al-Qāḍī, Ramzi Baalbaki, Ṣalāh al-Dīn al-Munajjid, David A. King, Priscilla P. Soucek and Filiz Çağman, Geoffrey Roper, George N. Atiyeh, Dale F. Eickelman, and Michael W. Albin—it examines and reflects upon this unique tool of communication not as a physical artifact but as a manifestation of the aspirations, values, and wisdom of Arabs and Muslims in general.

THE MIDDLE EAST STUDIES ASSOCIATION OF NORTH AMERICA, INC. (MESA) was organized in 1966 by a group of American and Canadian scholars on the Middle East to

- promote high standards of scholarship and instruction in this area;
- facilitate communication among scholars through meetings and publications; and
- foster cooperation among persons and organizations concerned with the scholarly study of the Middle East.

MESA focuses on the study of the Middle East since the rise of Islam, principally from the viewpoint of the humanities and the social sciences. Its membership is international.

Persons of scholarly training and/or achievement in Middle East studies are eligible to become Full Members ($60, Retired $30, Joint $75). Other categories of membership are Associate ($60), Student ($30), and Institutional ($500). Each membership is on a calendar-year basis. Membership includes subscriptions to the International Journal of Middle East Studies, the MESA Bulletin, and the MESA Newsletter. Application forms may be obtained from the MESA Secretariat, 1232 North Cherry Avenue, University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona 85721, (520) 621-5850, fax (520) 321-7752.

The Jews in the Middle Ages

Mark R. Cohen

Did Muslims and Jews in the Middle Ages cohabit in a peaceful "interfaith utopia?" Or were Jews under Muslim rule persecuted, much as they were in Christian lands? Rejecting both polemically charged "myths," Mark Cohen offers a systematic comparison of Jewish life in medieval Islam and Christendom—the first in-depth explanation of why medieval Islamic-Jewish relations, though not utopic, were less confrontational and violent than those between Christians and Jews in the West.

"Cohen advances our knowledge through a fine treatment of the huge literature and the application of social anthropological theory. Scholars will welcome the sound synthesis; general readers will appreciate the lucid style."—Library Journal

"Cohen's argument is buttressed with an impressive range of evidence drawn from both Jewish and non-Jewish sources in the Islamic and Christian worlds."

THE SHI'IS OF IRAQ

Yitzhak Nakash

Iraqi Shi'is, the country's majority group, are nevertheless politically disinherited, as was vividly demonstrated in the aftermath of the Gulf War. Here Yitzhak Nakash provides a rich historical background for understanding their place in today's Sunni-dominated Iraq. The first comprehensive work on the Shi'is of Iraq, this book challenges the widely held belief that their culture and politics are a reflection of Iranian Shi'ism. In examining the years between the rise of the Shi'i strongholds Najaf and Karbala in the mid-eighteenth century and the collapse of the Iraqi monarchy in 1958, Nakash shows that the growth of Iraqi Shi'ism was closely related to socioeconomic and political developments in the nineteenth century.
